$127 Million Minuteman Contract May Draw Bids from 12 Companies

No Appreciable Changes

Complete Counting Of Absentee Ballots

Absentee ballots in Missouri's special election on Amendment No. 1, and those on the Sedalia city primary election, have been counted, and they made no appreciable change in either the Amendment vote or the primary race.

The count on Amendment No. 1 was 35 for and two against, bringing the official vote total of Pettis County to 4,804 for and 1,846 against.

The count was made by Mrs. Clyde Waters, Republican, and Mrs. Walter Jennings, Democrat, in the office of County Clerk James Green. The two judges also certified the official count.

At the City Hall in the office of City Clerk Ralph Dedrick, the primary vote were counted by Mrs. Anna Berger and Miss Hazel Palmer, Republicans, and Mrs. R. A. Malone and Lynn Shelby, Democrats.

Possibility change in two races for the nomination for Councilmen on the Democratic ticket faded when the absentees were fairly well divided among the four wards, and the trailing candidates were unable to compete with the leader in the count.

Walter Jessee, in the Second Ward, who went into the absentee count with a 65 vote edge saw it increased as he got 32 and his opponent Charles Bell only picked up 18 votes. In the fourth ward, Roberts who had a slim edge of 20 saw his majority increase as he received 19 votes and William Franken received 11.

Most of the absentees were Democratic votes, four of the votes being Republican and the balance of the 1960 which were counted went to the Democrats.

The absentee vote and final count for the Democrats were: For Mayor, J. H. Bagby 134, total 2500, majority of 656; E. Glenn Lewis 51, total 1844. For Chief of Police, Leonard Ditzfield 83 total 1507, majority, 714; Ray Simons 37, total 766; Joe Gresham 6, total 198; Herbert Petree, 17; total 366; Robert Quann 11, total 674; Melvin Sands 27, total 637.

For Police Judge, U. L. Howerling, 58, total 1975, majority 939; J. B. Woodward Jr., 78, total 1,036; Robert Hopkins 23, total 782; Jim Robinson, 6, total 364. For City Attorney, John C. McCloskey, 136, total 3,395. For City Assessor,

John M. Blue, 141, total, 3,164. For City Treasurer Mrs. Rosie Pearl Robb 140, total 3,124. Councilman First Ward, E. B. Smith 35, total 711; Second Ward, Jessee 32, total 545, majority 79; Third Ward, James A. "Pat" Clark 26, total 650, majority 179; Fourth Ward, Raymond Roberts (Please turn to page 5 column 8)

Three Sedalia Companies Seek Sub-Contract Jobs

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
Of Our Washington Bureau

The Air Force is expected to announce next week award of the prime construction contract for the Minuteman missile complex in the Whiteman Air Force base area.

The amount of the contract is expected to be in the neighborhood of $127,000,000.

About 12 firms, including some of America's largest construction companies and contractors are expected to place bids on the huge project.

Only one of these is a Missouri firm — Fruin-Colon Construction Company of St. Louis.

Some 77 Missouri firms, however, including at least three from Sedalia, requested and received specifications of the work to be done to determine if they might be in the position to bid on the sub-contract work.

The sub-contractors, which could run 100 or more, will be let by the prime contractor.

On the basis of previous contract work, around $25,000,000 might be available for local Missouri firms in this sub-contracting supply.

The three Sedalia firms which received specifications are: KW Electric Company, Howard Construction Company, and Radio & Television Supply, Inc.

The formal opening of bids and awarding of the prime contract will take place in Kansas City "about March 15," according to the Pentagon.

The Air Force Ballistic Missile construction office in Englewood, Calif., will send the group to the Missouri River Division office of the Army Corps of Engineers in Kansas City to handle the bid opening.

The Air Force told Sen. Stuart Symington that it had not been able to set a specific time for this meeting because it may be necessary at the last minute to change contract specifications. In this event there will be a short delay, beyond March 15.

The Air Force added that any changes in specifications would be minor ones.

The construction work at the complex will deal primarily with building the inverted silos which will house the Minuteman ICBM.

The contract for installing the weapons was earlier awarded to The Boeing Company, Seattle, Wash. The missile itself is the product of several business firms.

Bad Winter Brings Joy To the West

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—This winter had the worst of everything, snow-laden storms, floods and numbing cold, but it also brought joy to many Western farmers. Only in Texas, apparently, did the winter assault cause extensive losses—$19 million in citrus crops alone.

In Southern California, torrential rains brought floods but also broke a chronic drought. "We're in beautiful shape for the first time in many years," said the Los Angeles county agriculture commissioner, Kenneth L. Woolf.

The grain states exulted about the heavy snow cover that kept soil from blowing and put moisture into the ground the best way—through a slow, deep-reaching trickle.

But the cold did lasting damage to fruit trees in Texas. An unofficial guess is that 15 per cent were killed when a late February freeze hit the budding trees.

The citrus crop of Texas, estimated at more than 10 million boxes, was nearly a total loss. In two days of sub-freezing temperatures the state's commercial peach and plum crop worth $5 million was practically wiped out.

Citrus crop losses in California and Arizona were less severe.

The Texas loss proved a boom to Florida. Growers in Florida lost 4½ to 8 million boxes of oranges and 1-2 million boxes of grapefruit in a December freeze. But the major loss was to very young trees which didn't affect this year's harvest. The crop forecast has been cut only from a record 99 million box orange crop to a healthy 96 million.

The Krause's son Jack, who resides in Sedalia was notified and went to Sweet Springs.

Sharp Rise In Missouri Farm Sales

Cash Receipts Average $595 More Per Farm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports cash receipts from farming in Missouri rose from $1,130,297,000 in 1960 to $1,243,255,000 last year.

Net income per farms in the state increased from $2,419 in 1960 to $3,014 last year, the report showed, for an average increase of $595.

Cash receipts from farm marketings in Missouri in 1961 amounted to $1,147,124,000, compared with the 1960 total of $1,106,634,000.

Amounts received from payments under government farm programs climbed sharply from $23,663,000 in 1960 to $36,131,000 last year, according to the report.

Conservation, $10,054,000, Missouri ranking second among state in amounts received under that program, being exceeded only by Texas with $21,120,000; wool act, $1,180,000; soil bank, $11,639,000; 1961 feed grain program, $67,874,000; 1962 feed grain program, $134,000, and 1962 wheat program, $5,250,000.

Markings of livestock and livestock products in Missouri last year brought farmers a total of $740,064,000 compared with $716,886,000 the previous year. The 1961 cash receipts from marketings of crops were $407,060,000 compared with $389,748,000 in 1960.

Gas Victims Are Reported As Improving

The condition of Mrs. Myrtis Davis, 83, and Mrs. Herbert Krause, 48, Sweet Springs, who were overcome by carbon monoxide at the Krause home, last Monday night, are reported as improved. Mrs. Davis condition, however, was reported still serious, while Mrs. Krause is expected to be dismissed from the hospital either today or Saturday.

Mr. Krause, who was also made ill from the monoxide was also treated at the Sweet Springs Community Hospital, but was released from the hospital Wednesday.

According to the reports, Mr. and Mrs. Krause first became ill about 8 o'clock while watching television, and when they started to move about in their home. When they moved about they became nauseated, and Mrs. Krause began vomiting. Dr. Paul Roberts was called and administered medical treatment.

Later when they showed no signs of improvement, Dr. Roberts was called back about 9:30 o'clock and administered to them again. Mr. Krause told Dr. Roberts that maybe they should look in on Mrs. Davis who had a basement apartment in the house. Mrs. Davis door was locked and when she failed to answer, City Marshall Charley Roscher was called and he broke down the door. Mrs. Davis was found unconscious, lying on the bathroom floor.

The three were taken to the hospital where medical treatment was again administered.

It was reported a gas heater was vented through the wall to the outside east wall of the residence, and it was believed wind was blowing the fumes back down the vent into the room and a furnace fan was carrying them up into the upper part of the residence.

The Krause's son Jack, who resides in Sedalia was notified and went to Sweet Springs.

Police Come to Aid Of Sedalia Mother

Mrs. Ted Pohl, 911 Crescent Drive, had one of those nerve-shattering experiences most every parent faces while their children are growing up. Mrs. Pohl's two pre-school-age daughters locked themselves in the bathroom and turned on the hot water in the bathtub and lavatory. Mrs. Pohl was unable to make them understand how to unlock the door or to turn off the water.

In desperation she called the police and Officer Alva Lemens was dispatched to assist her. Lemens broke the lock on the door and rescued the two frightened little girls.

House Kills Increase Bill On Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—Proving that some of the best-laid political plans can come a cropper, the House has killed a bill to increase its membership from 435 to 438.

A voice vote returning the measure to a committee pigeon-hole Thursday climaxed one of the most hectic and confused House sessions in years.

The bill would have given Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Missouri one more House seat than they will be entitled to under 1960 census figures.

The measure suddenly lost so much of its carefully arranged support that backers couldn't even muster the 80 votes needed for a rollcall.

Just before the final action, its one-time champion, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, disavowed his support because of an amendment that would have forced the calling of special sessions of the legislatures in the three states to redistrict their congressional seats. Failure to call such a session or to enact redistricting laws would have required all House candidates from the three states to run on a statewide basis.

The amendment was offered by the bill's author and floor manager, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., and it caught friends and foes by surprise although it had been discussed in previous committee sessions.

The commitment, which Halleck acknowledged, was that a new redistricting law in Pennsylvania would salvage the seat of veteran Ivor D. Fenton, Republican, whose re-election was in doubt under a redistricting law already passed in Pennsylvania.

It was to help Fenton that Halleck rallied GOP support for the bill. The purpose of the amendment was to make certain that Fenton would be taken care of.

Other Pennsylvanians, however feared that the legislature might fail to enact a new redistricting law and force them to run on a statewide race. Generally it is considered more hazardous politically to campaign statewide instead of in a familiar district. Also, it is more expensive.

Won't Accept Postal Money Orders to Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has announced it will not accept money orders addressed to Cuba after March 18.

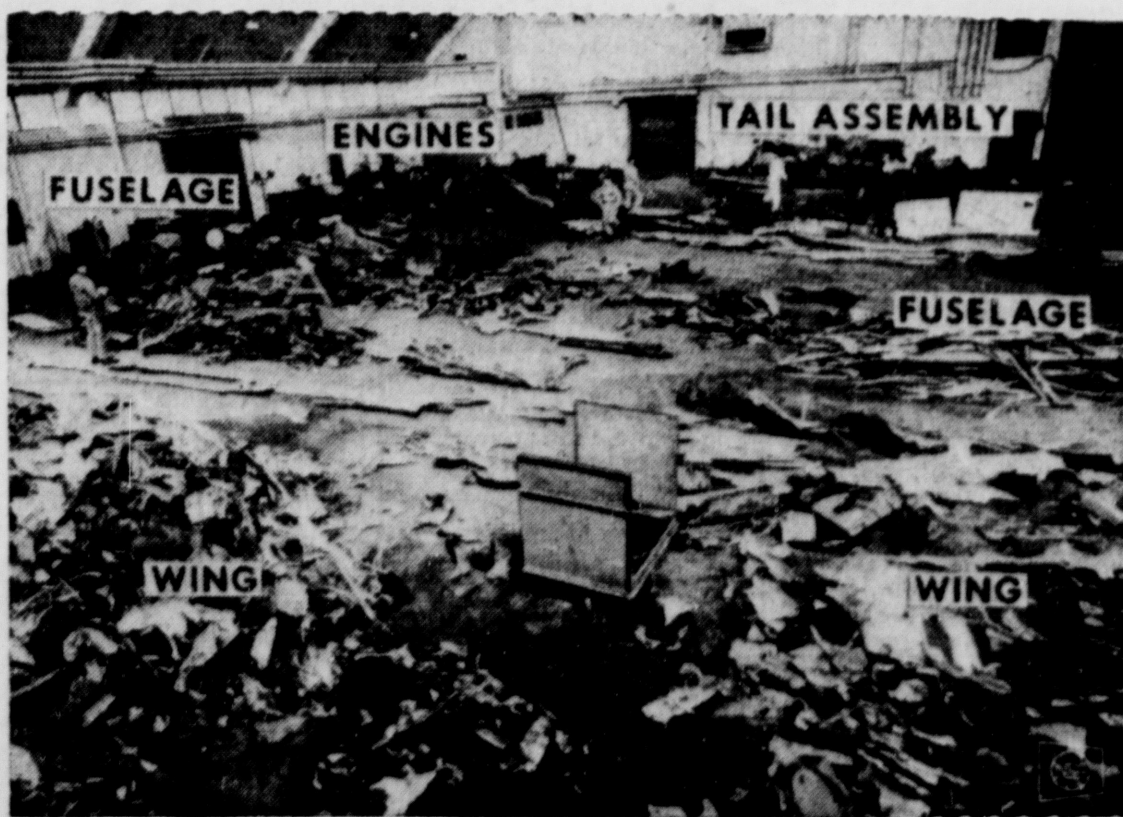

Announcing the halt, a spokesman said Thursday U.S. senders had complained of long delays—sometimes up to six months—in delivery of the money in Cuba.

Havana radio labeled the order a new aggression and charged it will deprive old people and invalids of money they have been receiving from relatives in the United States.

Damage Tops $165 Million

East Mopping Up After Big Storm

By The Associated Press

Residents and authorities of the six-state area battered by the big storm, bolstered by prospects of massive federal aid, have begun mopping up operations after a three-day rampage of wind and water.

The death toll stood at least at 35, with a number of persons missing. Property damages have been estimated at well over $165 million.

The coastal sections of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina have been declared disaster zones by the Small Business Administration, which grants special, long term loans to property owners.

Outright federal grants must come by proclamation of President Kennedy. Prospects are bright that he will take prompt action.

These grants would go to state and local governmental units for the repair of roads, bridges, schools and other facilities.

The governors of New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia and Maryland already have asked the president to declare their stricken sectors disaster areas.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York has asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to petition for designation of stricken sectors as disaster areas.

Additional federal aid was announced Thursday by the Department of Agriculture, which said emergency food supplies were being distributed to storm victims through state and local agencies.

Damage estimates by states: New Jersey and Delaware, $50 million each; Virginia, $30 million; New York, $25 million; North Carolina, $3 to $5 million; and Maryland "many millions."

Pestilence and starvation menaced survivors, with practically all food supplies and sewage facilities wiped out. Acceptable drinking water constituted a major problem in many areas.

In North Carolina, Gov. Terry Sanford flew over the distressed area.

"I thought it was going to be bad, but it is much worse than I imagined," he said.

A pack of loose dogs were reported chasing cars at Osage and Henry.

A collie and a bird dog were reported loose at Enginier and Jackson.

Louis Isgur, operator of Louie's store on Main, reported he had picked up a dog. He later found a home for the dog.

The poundmaster was called to pick up a dead goat at 302 West Morgan.

A pickup order was received for a dog at 310 North Broadway.

A pickup order was received for a dog at 828 West Sixth.

The poundmaster answered all of the calls, and dispersed some of the packs, and others were not where they were reported.

Civilian Payroll Dips Some On Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of civilians on the government payroll decreased slightly from December to January, the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures reported today.

The committee said 2,428,691 civilians were working for the government in January, a decrease of 2,307, or less than one-tenth of 1 per cent, from the preceding month. Civilian agencies showed a decrease of 3,209 while civilians working for the military increased by 902.

Religious Focus On Holy Place

By Jules Loh

Associated Press Writer

Pope John XXIII's selection of Oct. 11 as opening date for the Second Vatican Council "because it links us with the memory of the great Council of Ephesus," focuses attention on one of the world's most interesting holy places.

Many believe Ephesus, Turkey, was the home of both the Virgin Mary and the "beloved disciple" John during their last years on earth.

The Council of Ephesus, to which the Pope referred, was held there in the year 431 and defined the doctrine that Mary is the mother of God. Catholics celebrate the feast of the Divine Maternity of Mary on Oct. 11.

Most Catholic spokesmen feel the Pope selected Oct. 11 mainly because it was an appropriate feast day close to the time when preparations for the council will be complete. Prelates frequently use feast days to announce important church decisions, merely to add to their solemnity.

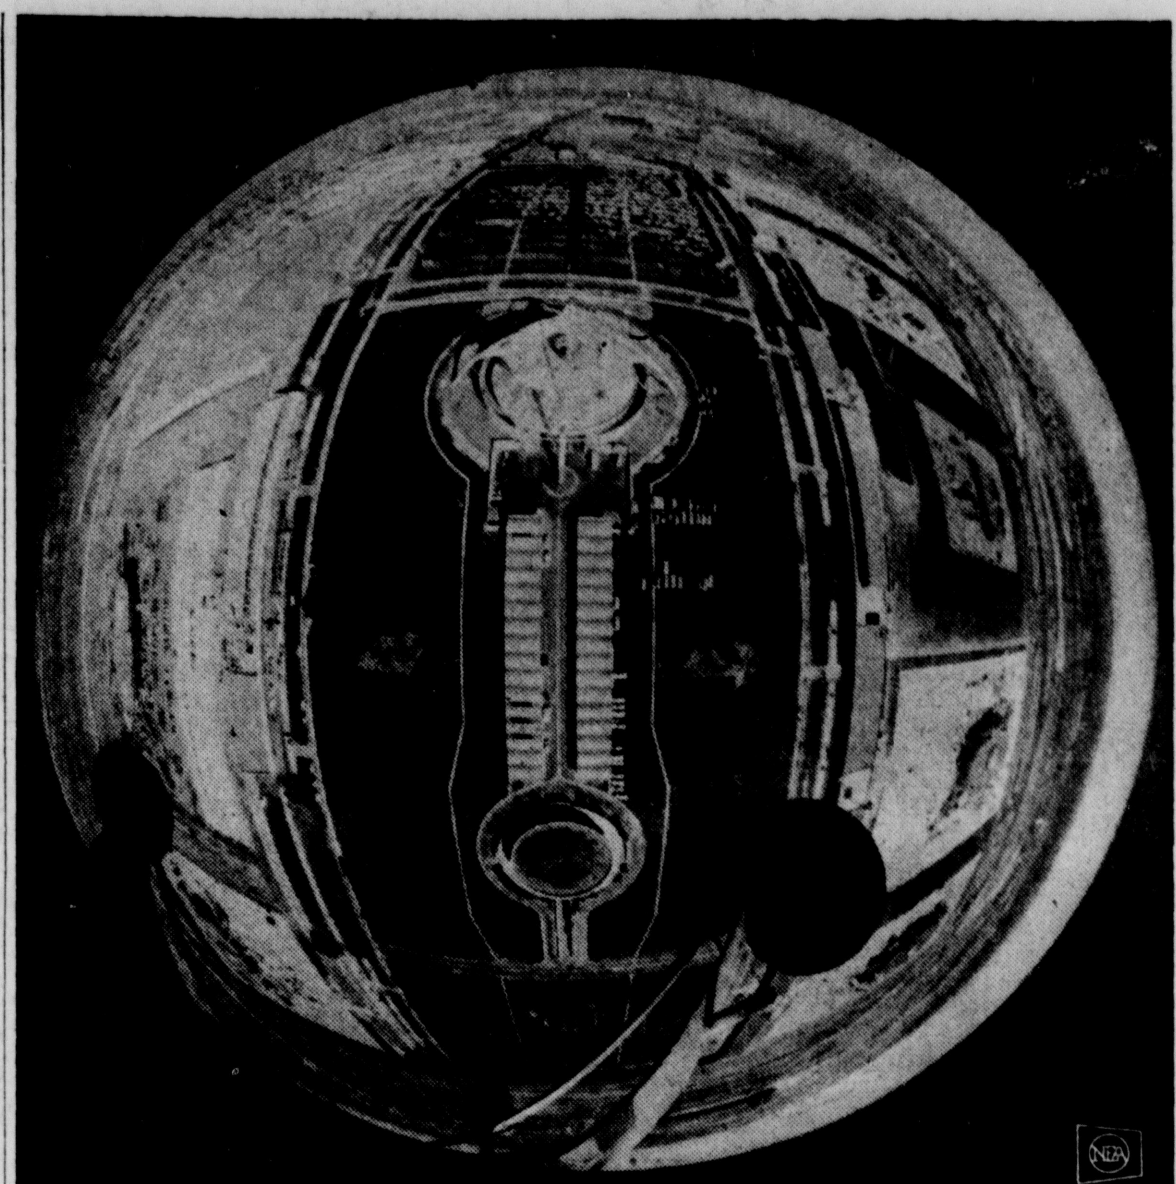

But, in light of the emphasis the Second Vatican Council is placing on religious unity, many feel that linking it with the Council of Ephesus was a happy, if incidental, turn of events.

For one thing, the Council of Ephesus was one of the few early Ecumenical Councils whose decisions are accepted by Orthodox and most Protestant bodies as well as Catholics.

For another, it puts major stress on the ancient doctrine of Mary as mother of God rather than more modern Marian definitions which some Christians view as stumbling blocks to unity.

In still another vein, linking the two councils in spirit gives this year's gathering an impressive historical perspective stretching back to apostolic times. The Church of Ephesus, which still exists as a Catholic archdiocese, was one of the seven churches of the Book of Revelation. The solemn meeting of bishops held there in 431 was the church's fourth Ecumenical Council; this year's similar gathering in Rome will be the 21st.

Ephesus was one of the most important cities of New Testament times; a thriving seaport and site of the famous Temple of Diana, one of the seven wonders

James M. Pangburn In Mediterranean

James M. Pangburn, signalman seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Pangburn, 1200 South Summit, is serving aboard the fleet oiler USS Caloosahatchee, operating as a unit of our Sixth Fleet. The cruise has afforded crewmen the opportunity to participate in ski tours in the French Alps, visit the Renaissance city of Florence, tour the Isle of Capri and see the excavated Roman city of Pompeii.

of the world. All that's left today is three square miles of ruins on the eastern shore of the Aegean Sea.

In 1927 archeologists discovered a tomb beneath the floor of a sixth century Byzantine basilica which some hold to be the burial place of John the Evangelist.

Though nothing is known from Scripture or early church history about Mary's final years on earth, the tradition that she accompanied John to Ephesus after Jesus' ascension dates back to the fourth century.

Part of the reason for the belief springs from the fact that the city's ancient church, where the council was held, was called St. Mary Theotokos (mother of God). In pagan times the building had been a Greek university. Historians believe it was converted to Christian use in about 350 A.D., a period when it wasn't customary for churches to be dedicated to saints except in places where they actually lived.

The belief was revived 80 years ago when the ruins of a shrine, built on the foundation of a small three-room house, were discovered on a hilltop overlooking the Aegean. The ruins, now restored, are regarded by many as the house where Mary lived.

Each year about 50,000 pilgrims climb the hill to visit the shrine.

4-H Looks to the Cities

The 4-H club movement which receives national recognition this week, as pointed out Monday, has established firm foundations in Pettis and surrounding counties. This is plainly evident to those who have come in contact with 4-H programs and achievements.

From its founding in the early 1900's, the 4-H movement among American youngsters has been linked with the farm. But now it is beginning to blossom as an urban enterprise, too. Sedalians are progressively becoming more aware of the activities of 4-H club members. These are beginning to spread across urban boundaries.

This doesn't mean that cows and chickens are coming back to the city as new green space opens up. It just means that more and more U.S. youngsters are either being born in or drifting to urban centers.

Agricultural Extension officials point out that only 15 per cent of the boys and girls raised on farms today can hope for a full-time adult livelihood in farming. The rest will either move away for good, or have to supplement farm income with jobs in city and town.

The 4-H movement, say these officials, is sensibly orienting itself to these changing career needs.

Right now about 20 per cent of its 2.3 million members live in cities and another 27 per cent reside in rural but nonfarm areas, like those string-style developments which line highways all over America.

As the 4-H effort once exclusively sought through youth training to improve the quality of rural life, now, under prodding from parents, farm specialists, educators and foundations, it is being bent toward similar goals in urban life.

The Ford Foundation recently put up $25,000 to support a study of 4-H activities in 100 urban areas. It also is giving $125,000 to the University of Oklahoma to permit it to set up an urban counterpart of its agricultural extension, research and education programs.

Field stations will be established in four Oklahoma cities, with an "urban agent" placed there to identify local problems on which the university might offer help.

The 100-area 4-H study will be aimed at exploring what the urban young people are doing, what direction their organized efforts should take to improve community life and fit them for solid contributions and leadership.

Out of all this, the Agricultural Extension Service says, will come new programs for the urban young.

Officials insist the 4-H movement will keep its familiar rural tone, but with the U.S. urban population rising proportionately all the time, it would seem inevitable that the city youngsters and their problems and needs will bulk progressively larger.

The urban shift in 4-H is most heartening. It could be one very strong antidote to juvenile gangs, idleness and crime. For the movement always has been justly famed for its constructive, highly purposeful endeavors in the name of head, heart, hands and health.

Businessmen Helped Space Triumph

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A lot of people were behind the success of Col. John Glenn, as he, himself, so often reminded the American people. Among these unsung heroes on the sidelines, perhaps none deserve more credit for putting project Mercury into orbit than a big businessman, Floyd Odum, and a little-known Belgian engineer, Karel J. Bossart.

Odum, who had purchased Consolidated Vultee, better known as Convair, sank $20,000,000 of the firm's money into perfecting the giant Atlas at a time when the Defense Department had washed its hands of the project and when Odum's directors were demanding that he show profits instead of losses.

However, he and Bossart were convinced that it was the space weapon of the future. They kept on working. Had it not been for their determination and Convair's money, Colonel Glenn would not have made his historic flight at the time he did.

Actually the Atlas, or the MX-774 as it was then called, got started in 1945, the year the war ended, as the brainchild of Bossart, working for Convair. On April 22, 1946, $1,400,000 was allotted by the Pentagon to develop the Atlas, but in 1947, with economy in the air and the United States reducing its armed strength, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, then Chief of Staff, ok'd cutting off funds.

The Pentagon's project engineer, Albert Lombard, objected and wrote an interoffice memo that the new missile "must receive backing financially on a scale somewhat of the magnitude of the German (rocket) activities at Peenemunde."

Inside Story of A Struggle

Despite this, the Atlas was killed. However, both Odum and Bossart refused to give in. And the inside story of the struggle within the Pentagon to keep the giant rocket alive was told by this writer and Jack Anderson in the book "USA — 2nd Class Power?" in 1958, as follows:

"Bossart built a miniature Atlas and shipped it to Washington for a final appeal to the Generals. Convair's Washington representative, Richard Swanson, worked hard to get the brass lined up for a meeting. For some reason the model of the Atlas was delayed and didn't arrive until 1:50 p.m., ten minutes before the Air Force brass were scheduled to arrive.

"Get that crate open!" ordered Swanson anxiously. But the crate had been put together with long screws driven into the wood by machine. The model was almost as secure as in a bank vault, for an hour, as the Generals fumed and fretted, workmen, stripped to the waist, struggled to pry the crate open. When at last they succeeded, they found the missile had been broken during their battle with the box. The impatient Generals snorted and walked out.

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN The Larger Feet. — Chiropractic societies, which make a business of keeping an eye on what's afoot, continue to divulge the information that women's feet are getting bigger. The fact is, they say, that members of the teenage set will be wearing 10½ E when they reach the age of 25, whereas their grandmothers wore about 5 A at this same stage of antiquity.

Doubtless this will cause some consternation among women. There remains in feminine thinking even today some vestige of that era when a stylish lady had feet like a hummingbird's and a figure approaching an hour glass. Women of those constricted days could neither breathe deeply because of their corsets, nor balance themselves well if feeling giddy because of such slight underpinnings, and as a result often toppled over in explicable faints.

By a valiant fight the women got out of those whalebone stays and into the voting booths. So why shouldn't they give the foot a chance to express itself? After all, who ever heard anyone but a woman discuss the size of a woman's foot?

If the big foot is coming, then let it come. And leave room in the shoe for an occasional wiggling of the toes.

Hard Work, Well Informed JFK Traits

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—No president, probably, ever worked harder at his homework than President Kennedy, if as hard. An astonishing knowledge of details shows through every news conference.

The fact that he's only 44 must be a big help.

The details cover the world, from describing the attitude of a governor in Brazil to telling a reporter his figure was too high when he said 13,000 men faced unemployment in a Long Island plane plant.

You can criticize him, and often justly, for not fighting more, or not seeming to fight at all, for some of the programs he dumps on Congress in such rapid abundance.

You can wish for newer literary touches in his speeches and more iron and follow-through after he delivers them, even if it means making some people mad at him.

Like President Eisenhower, Kennedy has made a policy of not stirring up the bees, even when some of them sting him.

But he cannot be criticized for not attempting to absorb the fantastically varied doings and problems of government, at home and abroad, in dollars, dimes and percentages, in men, missions, and missiles.

His accumulation of detailed knowledge, which must be acquired through much reading and many conferences, is in addition to the other activities of the presidency, from speeches by day to White House musicals by night.

His news conference last Wednesday was an example, better than most, of Kennedy's mastery of the intricacies of his job. It was better than most only because of the nature of the questions which prompted detailed answers.

Here is a rundown on his answers, showing the range of his knowledge, domestic and foreign, plus the evidence of his activity which is sandwiched in between all he seeks to inform himself on.

He had written the steel industry and the steel union to resume negotiations on a new contract by next Wednesday (both sides agreed to) and he had written Premier Khrushchev some suggestions on space cooperation.

He announced that tariff agreements, covering $4.3 billion worth

He mentioned that the unemployment rate is now just 5.6 per cent, the lowest in 19 months, that total employment is 65,789,000 and that industry profits were "up for companies—22 per cent."

He indicated he fully knew what the CIA had learned from U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers; he said American negotiators at Geneva March 14 would have some suggestions on nuclear test inspections.

He discussed nuclear free zones, a missile that can travel 5,000 miles and its effect on free zones; the $3 billion this country spends to support its defense forces overseas; the balance of payments; the war in Viet Nam;

He pointed out that proposals to buy $100 million in U.N. bonds were before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee; discussed the future of Okinawa; the nature of free enterprise and the public interest; the record of Congress so far, compared with other years.

He reminded reporters the defense budget was $14 billion in 1950; explained that 140 B70 bombers, costing $10 billion, wouldn't be ready before 1970 or 1971 and that we have 640 B52s.

He ticked off the time schedules of the Polaris, Minuteman and Titan missiles; said we are going to spend $1 billion equipping the B52s with Skybolts; noted by name who in his Cabinet had gone overseas and where; mentioned that a certain governor of a Brazilian province had not been friendly to the United States; and wound up the day discussing the future of the Indiana dunes.

Respect for Responsibility In What You Have Chosen

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Your husband has taken a new job, one that offers him less money but greater opportunities for promotion. For days he has been late getting home. When he does get home he is still preoccupied with ideas and plans for the next day. You have never seen him so delivered over to work as he is to his new job.

He is moved by a sense of responsibility, the result of Choice. Or take yourself. You have bought the kind of living room rug that you've always wanted. So you've had the carpet sweeper repaired lest overuse of the vacuum cleaner injure the rug's fibers. Every two weeks you haul and pull to change its position in the living room, to spare it uneven wear. At the appearance of any spot, you rush with sponge and shampoo. As your husband is working hard to justify his choice of his new job, you are working hard to justify your choice of rug.

To choose is to become responsible for what you have chosen. Writes a reader, "You have made trouble between me and my daughter by saying that children should be allowed to choose their home chores. Don't you realize what you are doing when you say a thing like that? As a result of reading your column, my daughter dawdles worse than ever over her Saturday chore of stripping the beds. You are preaching irresponsibility to children."

No, dear reader, I am not. If I am preaching anything, it is respect for responsibility. There are two ways that human beings can work:

We can work because we are ordered to work. We can work as a Chinese Communist works, without choice of the kind of work he does, how he wants to do it, where he wants to do it. We can work like the Chinese peasant, blindly, without any incentive but that which has been implanted in him by fear of the commissar.

And we can work as free people work — responsibly out of Choice.

It is a curious thing that in this country, embattled as it is in its struggle to maintain Choice for human beings, that a parent could so fear to allow it to her child.

Why do you think, ma'am that America stands for free elections? Just to keep the government going? Hardly. Any efficient dictator can keep a government going. No, we vote because choosing a candidate forces responsibility upon us.

Like the man who chooses a new job and the woman who chooses a new rug, political choosing, the Founding Fathers, knew, would compel us to interest ourselves in what we were doing.

I recommend allowing children some voice in the choice of chores, not because I am against responsibility, but because I am for it.

LIABILITY FOR A NOTE

QUESTION: Does payment of a note always release you from liability for the note?

FACTS: Jackson borrowed $1,000 from Anderson and gave him his promissory note payable two years from date. He also executed and delivered to Anderson a real estate mortgage on his house to secure the debt.

Ten months after getting the loan, Jackson came into some money unexpectedly which enabled him to pay off the loan ahead of time.

When Jackson paid the note, Anderson gave him a release of the mortgage but did not return the note. Jackson failed to ask for it or to get it back. He felt secure since the mortgage against his house was released.

Two months later Anderson died. His Executor sold the promissory note to Jones who gave face value for it, not knowing that it had been paid in full. A year later, when the note became due, Jones demanded payment from Jackson, but Jackson refus-

National and Local Polls Come Up With Surprises

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — One of the standard tricks of the political trade is for individual congressmen to conduct public opinion polls in their respective districts to prove how right they are.

But when the results of such polls produce results exactly opposite to what the national public opinion surveys show, questions are naturally raised on the accuracy of both.

According to recent Gallup polls, for instance, 83 per cent of the people think the United Nations is doing a good job and 90 per cent believe that the United States should not give up its membership in the world organization.

Over 75 per cent of the people are reported by the national polls as thinking that President Kennedy is doing a good job, over 70 per cent think the Democrats are better able to deal with the issues now before Congress, and so on.

Results are so one-sided as to be monotonous.

When matched against some of the regional, state and local polls, however, results come out in sharp contrast.

The easy explanation for this reversal is that a poll conducted in, say, a congressional district that is rock-ribbed reactionary or a state with a long conservative tradition, the answers are bound to come out anti-Kennedy, anti-Democratic, anti-internationalist and right down the line right-wing.

Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., has just conducted such a poll in his sixth district of ten rich farm counties extending roughly from the western suburbs of Indianapolis, west to the state line and including Terre Haute.

Indiana has a reputation for being an extremely conservative state although it now has one Democratic senator, Vance Hartke, and four Democratic congressmen out of eleven.

The sixth district is historically Republican although it went Democratic in 1958. Roudebush, a livestock commission man, recaptured it for the GOP in 1960 and is now serving his first term.

Roudebush asked the newspapers in his district to run his poll. Twenty-seven of them co-operated — eight dailies and 19 weeklies, getting 2,000 replies in a district where 162,000 votes were cast in 1960.

The most revealing result of the Roudebush poll — and others like it conducted by congressmen — is the degree of conservative sentiment. This reveals the strength of the right-wing reaction in many parts of the country.

These are the results, showing from 2-1 to better than 9-1 opposition to key Kennedy programs:

Do you favor the U. S. purchasing $100 million in bonds to help finance the United Nations? No, 84.5 per cent.

Do you favor federal aid to education? No, 85 per cent.

Do you favor a postal rate increase? No, 64 per cent.

Do you favor medical care for the aged through Social Security? No, 83 per cent.

Do you favor the President's request to raise the federal debt limit over $298 billion? No, 94 per cent.

Do you favor the President's free trade and lower tariff proposals? No, 67 per cent.

Do you favor the creation of a Department of Urban Affairs? No, 87 per cent.

Do you favor foreign aid to Communist nations who have declared themselves independent of the U.S.S.R.? No, 91 per cent.

Do you favor trade with Red bloc nations? No, 91 per cent.

Would you grant the President's request for authority and new power to regulate income tax rates and unemployment benefits without Congressional action? No, 95 per cent.

Results of this kind are probably obtainable in many districts of the country, so the Roudebush poll may be considered typical of farm belt and grass roots sentiment.

In spite of the President's personal popularity, his combined Republican-Democratic, conservative opposition is still a factor to be reckoned with on specific issues.

Early Treatment Against Rabies Virus Is 'Must'

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Although the virus that causes rabies (hydrophobia) has been found in the saliva of cats, skunks, foxes, wolves, coyotes, mongooses, bats and even cows, it is transmitted to humans most often through the medium of a dog bite. And because the disease is not responsive to even the most powerful of the miracle drugs and almost invariably ends fatally, we must direct our attention to prevention.

For, in contrast to curative treatment, preventive treatment is almost invariably successful.

However, the success of preventive treatment depends in great part on the manner in which the situation is handled, whether the bite is inflicted by a dog or any other of the known animal carriers.

Here are some suggestions that may avert panic if the biting animal is nonrabid. And that may save life if the animal is suffering from hydrophobia (fear of water):

If possible, capture the biting animal, but do not destroy it unless it threatens to attack others.

If it becomes necessary to kill the animal, turn the body over to a local health officer or to the nearest veterinarian. If neither is at hand, remove the head, pack it in ice, and deliver or send it to the nearest public health station.

The importance of these measures rests in the fact that only by brain examination can the disease be recognized with speed and certainty.

If evidences of the disease are lacking, then peace of mind is restored and the discomforts of immunization may be avoided. And, if evidences of the disease are discovered, then immunizations can be carried out with an almost certain guarantee that active disease will be prevented.

If the biting animal can be captured, take it to the local health officer or veterinarian for observation. Signs of the disease will appear in a rabid animal at ed to pay again. Would Jackson have to pay the note?

DECISION: The answer is yes. Jackson should have demanded a return of the note. Under the law of negotiable instruments, the promissory note remains alive when it comes into the hands of an innocent purchaser if value is given for it before its maturity. Jones being an innocent purchaser for value could recover. Never pay off a note without demanding return of it from the holder.

Republican Endorsement For Naugel

Harry S. Naugel was unanimously endorsed as Republican candidate for city collector at a meeting of more than 60 committee members Thursday night.

The meeting was presided over by Ed Kehde, Republican city chairman. A motion was made by A. W. Haller that Bill Hiatt be endorsed as the Republican candidate for school board member to be concentrated on at the city election of April 3. The motion carried.

Attorney Robert S. Gardner, who is serving on a committee preparing the school ballot supported Haller's motion by further pointing out that if the public isn't fully informed on how to vote to elect two school board members, one Republican and one Democrat, the bi-partisan school board could be lost, by either of the two parties having two candidates with the most votes.

Haller resigned as treasurer of the committee and Mrs. Harry S. Naugel was unanimously elected to replace him.

Haller, who was appointed as general election campaign chairman, told the committeemen that claims of achievements during previous Democratic administrations, made by the opposition party preceding the primary election, would be severely attacked and exposed.

L. L. Studer, Republican candidate for mayor, complimented Republicans for their desire to restore public confidence in city hall and stated he expects his party members to be joined by good Jeffersonian Democrats in accomplishing this goal at the election April 3.

Oscar Lawson also spoke and commented on the purchase of the city water works as a most expensive bargain ever invested in.

Carol H. Wehrli was appointed chairman of a committee to make a study of election laws for a city the size of Sedalia and to implement machinery to put the findings into practice in the April 3 election.

The committee committed itself to support the Ministerial Alliance "in an effort to get rid of power politics that interfere with the proper and efficient conduct of the police department and handling the police chief in the conduct of his duties."

Birds Tough To Find In Heavy Snow

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—If there's one job that approaches the proverbial search for a needle in a haystack it's feeding snowbound pheasants.

South Dakotans, who should be old hands at the task, learned all over again this week just what a problem it can be as they undertook to get feed to nine million pheasants scattered over 40,000 square miles of prairie—an area the size of West Virginia, New Jersey and Massachusetts combined.

"Feed the birds. They'll starve" came the cry from zealous sportsmen's clubs and humanitarians. Rod and gun club members and conservationists from 29 counties in eastern South Dakota answered the plea.

But all is not harmony in the project. "It's a waste of time, money and effort," retorted some game officials.

The clamor for the mass feeding program started after five feet of snow was dumped on much of South Dakota's famed pheasant range, burying the gaudy birds' natural feed supplies.

The U. S. Agriculture Department made available 400 tons of surplus shelled corn. The sports groups, some with gusto and some with trepidation as to the value of the undertaking, began spreading the grain from trucks and on foot.

The project shifted into high gear Thursday when the Game and Fish Department reported the first major bird losses from the storms.

Nike-Zeus Is Destroyed When It Goes Astray

POINT MUGU, California — The Army says a Nike-Zeus anti-missile rocket was destroyed on purpose because it veered off course after launching.

An Army spokesman declined to say whether the unsuccessful test would delay two forthcoming tests—the planned nuclear blasts in the Pacific next month and the Kwajalein Island Nike-Zeus tests planned for later in the spring.

ICC Refusal On Railroad Barge Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission refused Thursday to allow the Illinois Central Railroad and the Southern Pacific Co. to acquire control of the John I. Hay Co. of Chicago, a barge line.

The ICC said if Hay were acquired by the railroads its service "would be managed in such a manner as to serve the interests of such railroads and to enhance the movement of traffic over all-rail routes."

"The evidence is clear," the ICC said, "that the transportation services now provided by the water carrier competitors of Hay are reasonably satisfactory, reliable and adequate, and that the ability of such carriers to continue to serve the public would be impaired by approval of this transaction."

Hay primarily is a long-distance hauler of dry and liquid bulk cargo on the Illinois waterways, the Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee rivers, and the intra-coastal waterways and connecting rivers along the Gulf of Mexico.

Its six towboats and 96 barges do much of their business between Chicago, Milwaukee, Memphis, New Orleans and Houston. Illinois Central operates primary routes from Chicago south to New Orleans and west to Omaha.

Cultural Exchange

'King of Swing' Goodman Will Blow Jazz for Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, where kings and jazz officially are decadent, soon will have both in a visit by Benny Goodman, "The king of swing."

A two-year cultural exchange agreement signed Thursday by American and Soviet officials will boost by 10 to 15 per cent the number of exchange visits of teachers, technicians, artists, officials, athletes and others between the two countries. An estimated 2,000 exchanges a year were carried out under the 1960-1 agreement.

This will be the first time a Goodman jazz group has played in the Soviet Union.

Communist negotiators first balked at including the clarinetist in the exchange. Red officials frowns on jazz as a decadent bourgeois product.

But, U. S. negotiators prevailed after pointing out that Goodman has performed with classical music groups in this country and will be able to do the same in the Soviet Union as well as play jazz.

The New York City Ballet and the Robert Shaw Chorale are also slated to tour the Soviet Union this year, while the Soviet Union is sending to the United States the Bolshoi Theater Ballet, the Leningrad Philharmonia Symphony Orchestra and the Ukrainian Dance Ensemble.

Both sides hailed the expanded agreement as a step forward in U. S.-Soviet relations, otherwise bogged down in cold war disputes. The negotiations had been under way at the State Department since January.

U. S. officials declined to label the 33-page pact as a victory for the United States, but they favored the program generally as a means of penetrating the isolationism of the Soviet Union.

While the U. S. negotiators won some new projects, as did the Soviets, the American side admittedly made little headway in expanding the free flow of information in winning broader research opportunities for U. S. students in

Feed Grain Talk Topic At Kiwanis

The fed grain program in which participation is voluntary in reducing acreage and conserving the diverted acreage was explained to Sedalia Kiwanians at their meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

Speakers were: Sam Hieronymus, chairman of the Pettis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Mary E. Anderson, Office Manager; Robert Rissler, member of the County Committee; and Merle Vaughan, Director and Extension Agricultural Agent for Pettis county.

Jack Shoemaker was program chairman. Invocation was by Charles Hanley.

The weekly devotional was provided by the Rev. Roland Cooper, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. This continuing program through the Lenten season is arranged by the Committee of the Support of Churches of which Sylvan Woolery is chairman.

Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. Birthday greeting was extended to Dr. Reinhold Fischer. President Dan Robinson arranged for a part of the program to include observance of the club's 40th anniversary and read a message of congratulations from Warren Kimsey, field representative of Kiwanis International, who organized the local club.

In recognition of the anniversary which occurs March 11, President Robinson had invited all past presidents to attend and sit at the head table. He introduced those who were able to attend and the date of their administration: 1926 — George H. Trader; 1927 — Jack McLaughlin; 1929 — Heber U. Hunt; 1934 — Philip McLaughlin; 1937 — Charles Hanley; 1939-40 — Paul Hedderich; 1942 — George H. Scruton; 1944 — J. H. Brunkhorst; 1947 — Pinkney Miller; 1954 — L. A. Guests were: Marvin Crowder, Seattle, Wash., with Roy L. Brown and Kiwanian Harold L. Young, Warrensburg.

NCAA, NIT Playoffs

College Cage Tournament Spots to be Filled Tonite

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Half the remaining field for both the NCAA and NIT, the nation's two big post season college basketball tournaments, will be decided in a couple of key games tonight.

The Texas Tech-Southern Methodist playoff in Fort Worth will determine the Southwest Conference representative in the NCAA, and the winner of the Temple-St. Joseph's match in Philadelphia gets another of the four remaining berths in the 25-team tournament.

The loser in Philadelphia takes one of the two remaining spots in the 12-team NIT. The loser in Fort Worth simply calls it a season.

Each figure to be a tough one. In each case the opponents have season records that almost duplicate each other.

Tech, the defending champion, and SMU tied for the conference lead with 11-3 records. Doc Hayes' SMU Mustangs are 16-6 for the season, and Polk Robinson's Red Raiders from the Panhandle are 17-7. They split in regular season play, Tech taking the first 69-63, and SMU winning the second 68-63, one of eight straight closing triumphs for the Mustangs.

Temple and St. Joe's each are 9-1 in the Mid-Atlantic Conference, with St. Joseph's climbing into a share of the top spot on the strength of a 78-68 triumph over Lafayette Tuesday.

Temple is 17-7 for the season, St. Joseph's 17-8. In a previous meeting, also on the Philadelphia Palestra floor where they'll play tonight, St. Joseph's managed a 53-49 squeaker.

The first of eight NCAA regional small college tournaments opened in Evansville, Ind., Thursday night with Evansville taking North Carolina A&T 97-82 and Southern Illinois blasting Union (Tenn.) 78-56. The winners meet tonight.

The other seven regionals start tonight in Rochester, N.Y., Reading, Pa., Akron, Ohio, Sacramento, Calif., Valparaiso, Ind., Jonesboro, Ark., and Lincoln, Neb.

Victories by a couple of major tournament entrants, New York University and St. John's, in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader featured Thursday night's light schedule.

NYU, which will play a first round game in the NCAA against Yankee Conference champion Massachusetts next week, edged Fordham 67-63.

St. John's, which opens play in the NIT next week, got a 32-point performance from 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis in an 88-64 rout of Manhattan.

In other major activity, Texas whipped Texas Christian 73-61 in the makeup of a previously postponed Southwest Conference game, Oklahoma beat Missouri 63-55 and Boston College closed out with a 76-62 victory over Boston University.

Top Entries In Louisiana Derby Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Endymion and Roman Line, two of many in the muddled field of contenders for this year's top 3-year-old prizes, are among the leading entries for Saturday's Louisiana Derby, a major test that strangely has been a kiss of death for Kentucky Derby candidates.

Not since Black Gold's triumph in 1924 has a Louisiana winner gone on to win the run for the roses.

As many as 12 to 15 are expected to start in the $40,000 added affair at a mile and one-eighth, closing day feature at the Fair Grounds.

Endymion, George D. Widener's entry which won a stretch duel with Roman Line in the Derby Trial, is the likely favorite and may go at even money. He packs 117 pounds, eight less than top-weighted Roman Line.

Roman Line, which earned about $43,000 for owner T.A. Grisom as a 2-year-old, led all the way in the Derby Trial until nipped at the wire by Endymion.

With the 3-year-old picture confused by the injury to Sir Gaylord and Ridan's inability to win at a distance, Saturday's winner could jump into the top ranks of Kentucky Derby contenders.

The richest race on the Saturday program is the $100,000 added San Juan Capistrano Handicap at Santa Anita.

The Axe II is high weighted at 122 pounds for the grass test of about 1 1/4 miles in the feature of the closing day program at Santa Anita—the longest $100,000 added grass race in the nation.

Boston Celts Going After More Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics are going like 60 and with three more victories they'll be there.

The Celts, aiming for a season record total of victories in the National Basketball Association, won their 57th Thursday night—a 108-102 decision over the Chicago Packers, who wound up setting a record in reverse. The loss was the 59th for the new Packers, losing by one the low mark of 59 for one season established by New York last season.

Boston, tuning up for a defense of its NBA title, has three games left and by winning all three can top its own record total of 59 triumphs set two years ago.

Bob Friend Sees Sound, Good Year

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Bob Friend, the solid financier of the Pittsburgh Pirates, after a careful study of all available indices, believes 1962 will be a sound and prosperous year.

For him and the Pirates, anyway. Take the cyclical fluctuations in his own and lost record, for instance. He has alternated a winning season and a losing season for the last six years.

Last year he was 14-19 for a .424 average. That means he should be ready for an 18-12, .600, season such as he had in 1960 when the Pirates won the world championship.

Or take the matter of luck. Last year the Pirates were shut out 14 times, and Friend was the victim of six or nearly half of the occasions when the Pirates couldn't produce a run. He also lost four other decisions by a single run. Such misfortune should end.

Or consider his attitude and physical condition.

"I think this could be my best year," he says. "I weigh 192 now and I pitch at 195. I worked out all winter with the boys in Pittsburgh on a definite program of stretching exercises, and came down here early. My legs are good. I have no arm trouble."

Friend, a thoughtful, well-spoken Purdue graduate, has been with the Pirates since 1951 and is 31 years old.

He owns an apartment building in Pittsburgh and modestly admits to putting away a little money. That should be possible on his salary which is said to be around $40,000, earned as one of the best right-handed pitchers in the National League. In the winter he works as a mutual fund salesman.

If Friend has another big year and his pitching mate, Vern Law, comes back, the Pirates could very well bounce back from 1961's sixth place to 1960's first place and the world championship.

Detroit Red Wings Near NY Rangers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Detroit Red Wings are within one point of overhauling the New York Rangers in the battle for the fourth and last playoff berth in the National Hockey League.

The Wings, getting some brilliant play from goalie Hank Bassen and two goals from rookie Larry Jeffery, whipped Boston 3-0 Thursday night and boosted their point total to 56. With eight games to play to New York's six, the Wings' hopes of making the playoffs are brightened considerably.

Montreal, toughest of the NHL lot, Thursday night salvaged a 1-1 tie with Toronto to hold their seven-point lead over the runner-up Maple Leafs.

Six Crack Heavyweights

Double Main Event Lined Up for Wrestling Program

A double main event, featuring six crack heavyweights in all, has been lined up for Tuesday's wrestling program at Convention Hall.

Missourian Sonny Myers and wild man Buddy Austin, two bitter rivals, will come to grips in one of the key features.

The stylish French pair of Marcel DuPont and Maurice LaPointe will oppose towering Stan Stasiak and Bulldog Henning in the other.

In addition, there will be two other separate clashes, with mid-gest involved in one of them. The meeting of the junior-sized heavies pits Bull Brummell and Little Boy Blue. Stasiak and LaPointe are due to meet in the other individual match.

Peter Mazur Heads Pack At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Peter Mazur, a man who never has won a pro golf tournament, was in a rare position today as play entered the second round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open Tournament.

The 39-year-old Tonawanda, N.Y., pro was at the head of the pack by a three-stroke margin after shooting a 31-32-63 in Thursday's opening round.

Mazur started with a bogey on the first hole and wound up with the 10 birdies on the par 36-36-72, 6,700-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

He has played all tournaments so far this year and only made the cutoff at Baton Rouge. He finished out of the money there.

His round was a stroke better than the recognized course record of 64 set by Al Geiberger two years ago, but was a stroke over the 62 shot by Bob Rosberg in 1959 when the easier winter rules were in effect.

Bunched in back of Mazur were Arnold Palmer, winner here in 1960; defending champion Tommy Bolt; and Joe Campbell, all at 66.

A stroke farther back were Doug Sanders; Don Fairfield, Pensacola titleholder in 1956; and young Jerry Steelsmith, at 67.

Sixty-one players were under par, six at 68, nine at 69, and 18 at 70.

The field will be cut to the low 60s and ties after today's round.

Tigers End Cage Season In the Cellar

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri finished its basketball season in the Big Eight cellar as Oklahoma beat the Tigers 63-55 Thursday night.

It was the Tigers' final game under Sparky Stalcup, who is retiring to become assistant athletic director.

Missouri started out like it was going to win the last one for Sparky. The Tigers jumped off in front and had a 33-28 halftime lead.

The score was tied at 36-all and 40-all before the Sooners began pulling away on short shots behind the screen.

Missouri worked the ball in for its share of shots but just couldn't hit the basket, ending up with a percentage of 33.3, compared to Oklahoma's 41.7.

Oklahoma, with one game left, has a league record of 5-8. Missouri is 3-11. The Tigers will share last place with Kansas if the Jayhawkers lose to Colorado Saturday.

This Missouri student body gave Stalcup a desk set in a pre-game ceremony in appreciation of his 16 years of coaching. His collegiate career record is 195 victories and 179 losses.

Cage Little All-America Team Named

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Ronnie Galbreath, a ball control artist from Westminster (Pa.) College, and Roger Strickland, of Jacksonville (Fla.) University, hailed as possibly the most talented college players in America, are the spark-plugs of the 1962 basketball Little All-America selected By The Associated Press.

Named on the first team with the 6-foot-0 Ronnie and the 6-5 Roger were 6-2 Bob Mahland of Williams (Mass.), 6-9 Zeldo Beauty of the top-ranked Prairie View (Tex.) Panthers and 6-8 Charles Hardnett of Grambling (La.). Mahland and Hardnett are repeaters from the 1961 Little A-A. All are seniors except Strickland, a junior.

Galbreath, who hails from Wampum, Pa., put Westminster in the national spotlight when the Titans upset Pitt and ranking Duquesne.

The praise for Strickland, a transfer from Notre Dame, comes from Bill Kastelz, of the Florida Times-Union in Strickland's home town of Jacksonville.

"Strickland, at 6-5 and 215 pounds, is very possibly the most talented college basketball player in America today," Kastelz said.

Strickland is the nation's small college scoring leader while Mahland, of Garden City, N. Y., set a career scoring record at Williams of 1,272 points, breaking a mark that stood for 57 years. Beauty of Cleveland, Tex., and Hardnett, of Atlanta, Ga., the "big boys" of the team, were rated tops.

Picked as a second team, on the basis of votes from more than 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Marvin Trotman of Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers, labeled a great pro prospect, Richie Swartz of Hofstra (N. Y.) Kenny Saylor of Arkansas Tech, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.), and Lanny Johnson of Northeast Louisiana.

Homers Thurman, a freshman at Midland (Neb.), regarded by his followers as the "greatest small college player in the country — bar none," Billy Barnes, who lead Florida A&M to 25 straight victories, Jim Ahrens of Buena Vista (Iowa), Al Thrasher of Wittenberg (Ohio) and Gary Auten of Kentucky Wesleyan were chosen as a third team.

Members of the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Chet Walker, James King Are Chosen

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Chet Walker of Bradley and James King of Tulsa, who edged him out for the Missouri Valley Conference basketball scoring honors were unanimous choices of the coaches for the all-conference team announced today.

Walker is a senior from Benton Harbor, Mich., and King is a junior from Fort Smith, Ark.

Completing the first team were Gene Wiley, Wichita University senior from Wichita; Paul Hogue, Cincinnati senior from Knoxville, Tenn., and John Savage, North Texas sophomore from Detroit, Tex.

It was the third time Walker has been named to the first team by Valley coaches.

Chuck Orsborn, who directed Bradley to a tie with Cincinnati for the conference title, was named by his fellow mentors as "Valley Coach of the Year."

On the second team named by the coaches are Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker of Cincinnati, Jerry Foster and Marv Torrence of Drake and Tom Kieffer of St. Louis.

Players receiving honorable mention were: Lavern Tart and Rich Williams of Bradley, Tony Yates of Cincinnati, Billy Hahn of Drake, Oscar Miller of North Texas, Garry Garrison of St. Louis; Garry Hevelone of Tulsa and Lanny VanEman, Elsie Moore and Sam Smith of Wichita.

NY, Houston Debut

Major League Exhibition Season to Open Saturday

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Major league baseball's exhibition season opens Saturday with New York and Houston making their National League debuts and Manager Fred Hutchinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds wearing the crown of man-most-on-the-spot.

Hutchinson was ceded top honors Thursday by Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants, whose most pressing problem was settled when NL home run king Orlando Cepeda ended his holdout by agreeing to terms for an estimated $46,000.

While the Reds hold the spotlight, attention in American League circles will be focused on Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where the world champion New York Yankees and 61-homer hammerer Roger Maris open against the Baltimore Orioles.

Cincinnati bows against the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla., and Mets make their debut with Casey Stengel as manager in a game against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Harry Craft leads the Colts at Palm Springs, Calif., against the Los Angeles Angels.

Rounding out the expanded 10-game schedule are Los Angeles (N) vs. Kansas City at Vero Beach, Fla.; Milwaukee vs. Detroit at Lakeland, Fla.; Philadelphia vs. Minnesota at Orlando, Fla.; Pittsburgh vs. Washington at Fort Myers, Fla.; Chicago (N) vs. Boston at Mesa, Ariz.; and San Francisco vs. Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz.

Hutchinson's prime concern is a replacement for Gene Freese, hard-hitting third baseman who produced 26 homers last year but will be sidelined for three months with a right ankle fracture suffered in an intra-squad game.

Cliff Cook, trying to make the big leagues after a 1961 season at Indianapolis in which he hit .311 with 32 homers and 119 RBI, Switzerland, which doesn't figure to be up there long, had the distinction of gaining the first victory in the championship group when it beat Great Britain 6-3 in a Thursday afternoon contest. The Swiss rallied for four goals in the last period.

"This was the one we needed," said American coach Connie Pleban of Duluth, Minn.

"I think we have the makings of a real fine team, but we'll know a lot better about it when we play Sweden Saturday night."

Both the Americans and Canadians won't play again until Saturday night. Canada will meet West Germany.

Chicago Majors Can Tie for Top In East Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Majors, who have been bouncing in and out of first place in the American Basketball League Eastern Division, can tie for the top again tonight.

The Majors and the Hawaii Chiefs are scheduled to play in Miami Beach as the new pro league invades Florida. A Chicago victory would give the Majors a 16-14 record for the second half year, exactly the same as the Pittsburgh Rens.

A layup by Jack Adams with one second left gave the New York Tapers a 108-107 victory over the Kansas City Steers, the Western Division leaders, at Comack, N.Y., Thursday night. Cleveland squeezed out a 100-98 victory over the San Francisco Saints at San Francisco on four free throws in the last 39 seconds.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the wife who counted her husband's handkerchiefs to check on his fidelity brought back some memories. The counting system didn't work for me because my smart guy used paper tissue to remove the lipstick. It was his shirts that finally did him in. I discovered one day that he was not returning at night in the same shirt he had worn in the morning.

When the facts were uncovered and his dirty laundry was hung out to dry, I found that half of his wardrobe was in a one-room apartment downtown — hanging with black lace lingerie.

Heaven's Gift To Woman now has a fourth wife who is counting his handkerchiefs and I am supporting his three kids. Had I known that the child-support laws in this country were so archaic and utterly useless I would have washed and ironed without counting. It would have been much easier to keep my trap shut, and live in the hope that one day some babe's husband would put a hole in his head. — COUNT DOWN

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I are faced with a serious problem.

We have a four-year-old daughter who is bright and sensitive. My wife and I were thrilled at the news that another baby was on the way. We told Cindy that God was sending her a new baby sister or brother in January. She was very pleased and talked of little else for weeks.

Our little son was born with a damaged heart and lived only ten days. Cindy cannot understand why God sent her a baby brother and then took him away. We don't know how to handle the problem. Shall we stop talking about the little brother and pretend that he never existed? Would this be easier on Cindy? Please give us some advice. We need it desperately. — T AND C

Dear T and C: It would be wise to stop talking about the little brother but to pretend that he didn't exist would be unrealistic and harmful. The youngster would soon sense that your story was a clumsy making of the truth and then you'd have far more serious trouble. It would shake her confidence in your integrity and she might become fearful and insecure.

Children know that animals and flowers die. Use animals and flowers as examples when explaining the mysteries of death.

Acquit Comic Of Using Foul Talk on Stage

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Comedian Lenny Bruce has been acquitted by a Municipal Court jury of using obscene language in a night club act here last October. But Bruce was fined $100 for contempt of court following a separate hearing held after the jury's verdict was returned Thursday night.

Municipal Court Judge Clayton W. Horn ruled the comedian was guilty of contempt of court because of a letter in which Bruce complained of unfair treatment in earlier court appearances and questioned Horn's qualifications to preside in the case.

The letter was delivered to Judge Horn on the first day of Bruce's four-day trial.

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty years ago the early Girl Scouts were admonished to be womanly. "None of us likes women who ape men" is a rewarding line in the first handbook.

Eighteen and a half million Girl Scouts later the sentiment, if not the sentence, is substantially the same. Hardy hikers and campers though they are, the Girl Scouts who will celebrate the organization's 50th birthday next week are as feminine as teenagers can be.

Back when Juliette Low started the first troop in Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912, being womanly included mastery of the graceful art of swooning. But it wasn't all basket-weaving, baby-minding and good deeds for the pioneer scouts. They were expected to know how to shoot in self defense, milk a cow, handle importunate men.

That first 1913 handbook, called "How Girls Can Help Their Country," talked to its tender readers like a Dutch uncle, while teaching them such practical skills as how to secure a burglar with eight inches of cord, check a runaway horse and conduct themselves romantically.

It inveighed against smoking and drinking. It suggested that the "reading of novels unfits one's mind for doing good to others." And in an italicized aside to instructors, it advised: "Keep on a smile, but never let it be a smile of contempt. 'Hate nothing but sin'."

Since those days needs have changed. The rifle marksmanship badge has been dropped, while cow-milking proficiency has become specialized—in the dairying badge, one of 116 the girls can earn now.

From that first dozen Savannah girls' membership for girls 7 through 17 has grown to today's 3½ million, including 760,000 adults, 40,000 of them men.

Over the years the uniform has undergone transformation—from the first dark blue middie, through formidable shapes in khaki to the current couture-designed green dress.

But although people, program and apparel have changed, the Girl Scout's purpose has remained constant: To do her duty to God and country, to help other people, to lead a clean, kind, honest life.

Laryngitis Cancels Sinatra-JFK Meet

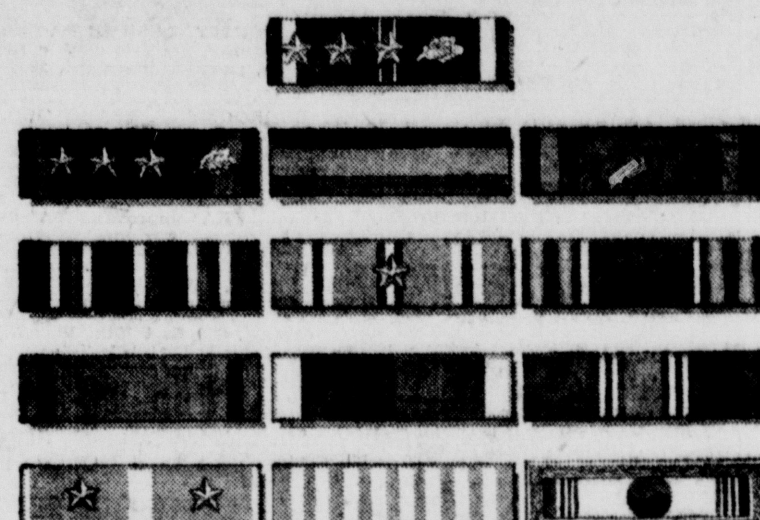

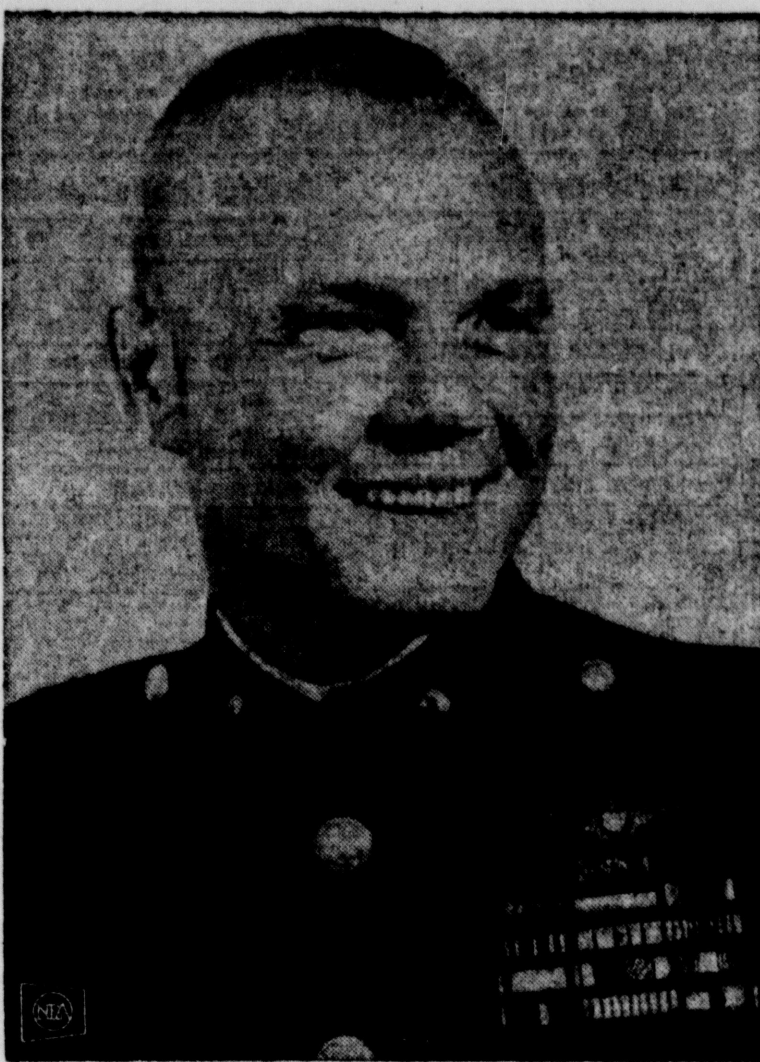

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Frank Sinatra is ill with laryngitis, his friends say and can't meet President Kennedy tonight in Florida, as planned.

The singer's trip was canceled Thursday. He'll also miss a benefit dinner Saturday for Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., in Miami.

Officials at Goldwyn Studio said work on a movie Sinatra is making is continuing without him. Scenes not requiring his presence are being filmed.

operated by Mrs. Tucker, was shot early Thursday in the tavern.

5-Week-Old Boy Wearing Hearing Aid

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Only five weeks old, Jimmy Bias of Grand Rapids wears a hearing aid.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Girard Bias, Jimmy was born Jan. 28 with no outer ear openings. He has been fitted with a tiny aid which conducts sound vibrations through the mastoid bone to his ear nerves.

Eugene L. Walle, audiologist-director of the Hearing and Speech Center at Grand Rapids, conducted hearing tests on Jimmy. As far as is known, Walle says, no child this young has been successfully tested before. The Center is United Community Services agency.

Walle says audiologists generally have considered testing infants so young to be too difficult and inaccurate.

After three tests, Walle was convinced that Jimmy's hearing nerves approach near normal. Further tests at a later age will be required to learn the condition of the boy's inner ear, and corrective surgery may be possible before Jimmy is of school age.

Meanwhile, Walle explains, Jimmy will have the normal security and psychological warmth of hearing his mother's voice and household sounds. The hearing aid also may enable Jimmy to learn to talk sooner than he would if deaf.

Off-Duty Cop Rescues Small Girl In Fire

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Clad only in Bermuda shorts, off-duty policeman Ralph Lopez, 27, broke down the door of a neighbor's burning home and rescued a 3-year-old girl.

Firemen said the child, Barbara Morin, apparently started the fire while playing with a cigarette lighter.

Her mother, Mrs. Ralph Morin, was outside hanging clothes to dry. She dashed into the house and rescued her 7-month-old baby. When she tried to return, she found she had locked the door.

Lopez broke through the door. He grabbed Barbara and scurried out handing Barbara to her mother. Lopez ran without waiting for a word of thanks.

"I was too embarrassed to be seen in the bermuda shorts," he explained.

Predators Get Support From First Graders

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — (AP) First graders at Cielo Vista Elementary School have asked Gov. Edmund G. Brown to save predatory animals.

"Dear Mr. Governor," wrote Melody Hestby, 6, "I would like to see a skunk even if they do smell bad."

"Please Mr. Government," pleaded Steve Smith, 6, "I've never seen a mountain lion. Please don't poison them."

"Dear Mr. Governor," wrote Mark Pelton, 6, "I love coyotes cause they are nice and God made them."

The youngsters wrote to the governor Thursday at the request of Pearl M. Tyne, president of the Defenders of Wildlife. Dr. Dwight E. Twist, superintendent of schools, said Mrs. Tyne asked support for an assembly resolution against unnecessary destruction of predatory wild animals.

Romney Is Selected Among Best Dressed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—George Romney, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan, has been selected by a tailors' organization as one of the country's 10 best dressed men.

But he arrived at the Michigan Constitutional Convention Thursday with a tear in the leg of his trousers.

Romney said he had ripped his trousers getting out of a car the other day and forgot to get them fixed.

Cook Survives Long Refrigerator Ordeal

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Jerolim Itkovic, cook aboard the Yugoslav ship Nin, went into the refrigerator as the ship sailed through a Persian Gulf storm.

The ship rolled sharply and the refrigerator door swung shut. The cook, 54, realizing no one would look for him until the next morning, started carrying heavy boxes and crates from one side of the refrigerator to the other. Eleven hours later an assistant found Itkovic, exhausted but alive. The incident was reported today by Aerna, a Zagreb magazine.

CAMPAIGN SIGN — Defense minister V. K. Krishna Menon places autograph on boy's palm as he campaigns for Indian parliament seat in village near Bombay.

Demonstrators Fail to Heckle Defense Chief

LONDON (AP) — Demonstrators at the London School of Economics shouted antinuclear slogans and hurled rolls of toilet paper at Defense Minister Harold Watkinson when he made a speech at the school Thursday. Then they staged a sit-down around his automobile.

Watkinson took it smiling and outwitted the 200 jeering students. On the platform he pointed to the paper debris around him. "I don't think you're very good shots," he said. "Perhaps not as good a shot as I was when a student."

Outside, he took one glance at the cluster around his car, walked around the corner and hailed a cab.

Nagging Questions Remain Despite Employment News

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The official report that employment has risen and total unemployment dropped could be just about the best economic news in some time. It could be, if some nagging questions weren't left unanswered.

The Labor Department calls its figures the best guess possible to attain. But some critics insist the report isn't as reliable as the public is likely to think. And so the monthly estimate can engender either more optimism or more pessimism than business conditions themselves justify.

Among the questions this week's report leaves unanswered for the average person are:

If the total of jobless dropped more than had been expected in February (by 120,000 to 4,543,000), why did the number of those out of work for 15 weeks or more rise by 200,000 to 1,400,000—a gain that was expected at this season? Why didn't the seasonal factor work for both?

Why has the total work force failed to rise as expected? In the last year it has fallen by 28,000 when it was supposed to rise by 848,000.

The expectation was based on the rise in population and the coming into the labor market of the first of the big war baby crops.

The total labor force is determined by adding those who have jobs and those who say they haven't jobs but are looking for work. If some persons who were looking for jobs give up, they are not counted as unemployed any more, nor as part of the labor force.

The failure of the labor force to grow as expected could be that many persons just quit trying.

And another nagging question that many ask:

If total unemployment is so high, why are many jobs going begging? Part of the answer is that many of these jobs are for highly skilled workers, in which there is a short supply. And part might be found in the unpopularity of some other kinds of jobs. Many housewives complain they can't find domestic help, or yard men, or the old style handyman.

Also, the labor force waxes or wanes with the personal goals or inclinations of many persons. Housewives, students and retired persons will come into the labor market if the kind of work or the pay is attractive, or will take seasonal jobs to make a little pin money, and then withdraw from the labor force again.

Example: Each June the labor force, and the total of unemployed, swells as students and teachers look for summer work; and each fall these totals shrink as school starts again.

The figures on the unemployed also include those who have been laid off from their regular jobs but have definite instructions to return within a month or two. To many this form of unemployment is galling. But to some it may mean little, as they expect such layoffs and have other work to do in the meantime. Example: Farmers who take work now and then in nearby factories.

But imperfect as may be the estimates of how many really belong in the ranks of the unemployed, the fact that the figures dropped in February will give a lift to many who fretted over some slowdown in the economy in January.

President Kennedy stressed this in saying, "This economy has more vitality than some of its premature mourners."

Hubby Forgives His Wife For Poison Attempt

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP)—Edward Lane, 37, whose wife is accused of poisoning him, says he wants to get right back with her and hopes she will plead innocent.

Faye Ellen Lane, 35, is in jail here under $3,000 bond on a poisoning charge. Lane, under treatment for arsenic poisoning in a Veterans Administration hospital at Indianapolis, telephoned a deputy sheriff Wednesday and asked him to deliver the message to her.

Tests showed Mrs. Lane and the couple's 10 children also had arsenic in their systems. Four of the children are in Indianapolis hospitals.

Police said the Lanes had quarreled over money, with Lane objecting to Mrs. Lane's spending. She also faces a fraudulent check charge at Bloomington, where she worked in an electronics factory.

First French A-Sub A Rocket Launcher

PARIS (AP)—France's first nuclear-powered submarine will be equipped with rocket launchers, the Ministry of Defense announced Wednesday.

A submarine now under construction will be converted to test Polaris-type missiles of French manufacture and other features to be incorporated in the atomic submarine.

Lenin Tomb Reopened In Red Square

MOSCOW (AP)—Lenin's tomb was opened to the public again today and a stream of curious immediately lined up in the snow in Red Square to see what had happened.

The principle change was that the big bronze and glass coffin now is squarely in the center of the tomb which for nearly eight years it shared with Stalin.

And over the outside door to the tomb in a stone slab is the one word in Russian lettering "Lenin" where before the inscription was "Lenin-Stalin."

Lenin's body lies with the head toward the Kremlin wall. His head, with its fringe of red hair and red mustache and goatee, is raised by a red pillow.

There is no visible evidence that the body has been touched since the tomb was closed Jan. 24 for repairs to the air condition, as an announcement said.

The tomb was reopened just three days after the 9th anniversary of Stalin's death on March 5, 1953. His body had been put in the tomb March 9, 1953. Both bodies had lain side by side in identical bronze and glass biers until, on the night of last Oct. 31, Stalin's body was taken out and buried before the Kremlin wall in a row with other Communist leaders.

Swarm of Bees Enticed From Police Cycle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—While Stan F. McCreadie, a California highway patrolman was in a telephone booth calling his office, a swarm of bees followed their queen onto his motorcycle seat.

McCreadie considered starting up his motor and vibrating the bees loose but discretion forced abandonment of that idea.

Along came a man who offered to remove the bees if he could keep them. McCreadie agreed, readily, so the stranger went into a nearby store and returned with a jar of honey, a cardboard box and a stick. He enticed the queen bee into the box and the others followed obediently.

McCreadie and his unidentified benefactor went away happily.

Infant's Birth Aided by Phone And Hypnotics

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Donna Kerns, 30, of Charleston, gave birth to an 8-pound, 9-ounce boy Wednesday after listening for an hour and a half to a soothing telephone voice saying, "Relax, you are going into a deep sleep."

It was the voice of a doctor putting her under hypnosis. Mrs. Kerns was under hypnosis when her first child was born in 1960, but a doctor was at her side.

Wednesday Mrs. Kerns said she was completely conscious throughout the birth and was in an utterly relaxed mood. The incident occurred after her doctor's car became stuck in the snow and he could not make it to the hospital on time.

The doctors involved declined use of their names.

West German Unit Ready By May 18

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany is completing the training of a new army division and will formally place it under North Atlantic Treaty Organization command in ceremonies May 18-19, the defense ministry reported Wednesday.

All of this country's armed forces are integrated into NATO as soon as they are formed and their men trained up to its standards.

CBS Comedy Replacement Is a Failure

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A series which may achieve the distinction of the year's worst and certainly the one with the loudest laugh rack had its premiere Thursday night on CBS.

The name of the series — and don't say you haven't been warned — is "Oh! Those Bells."

Starring a trio called the Wiere brothers, it arrived as a replacement for the disappointing New Bob Cummings Show. The Bob Cummings show wasn't exactly a laugh riot, but compared with the hapless bells it was a blue-white, glass-cutting gem of comedy.

From the opening moment when the stuffed head of the moose caught one Wiere by the seat of the pants to the hilarious climax when the boss was accidentally hit on the head by a golf club, it was one long maladroitness bore.

Later in the evening, CBS resumed its gingerly treatment of the conservative political movement, begun two weeks ago on "CBS Reports."

The 30-minute program was billed as a searching closeup of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater. It was really just an interview with the Republican leader by reporter Eric Sevareid.

Sen. Goldwater answered a string of questions permitting him to explain his many beliefs and attitudes. Most of these boiled down to a diminution of federal powers, with greater authority returning to local, municipal and state government.

Jinx Falkenburg, who does the commercials on NBC's "Theatre '62" dramatic specials, has twice demonstrated how effective are her sponsor's washing and drying machines by donning a white beret-type hat which, she explains, has been laundered five times.

The chapeau, whipped up especially by milliner Sally Victor and put through five certified washings and dryings, brought an outpouring of admiring letters from (feminine) viewers when it was first shown. Jinx, figuring that was the end of the commercial, sent the hat to the author of the first letter with hers and the sponsor's compliments.

Then it was decided to do the hat-trick again. Sally Victor got an emergency call, produced a copy of the hat. Then Jinx gave it away again — to the wife of a man connected with the show.

Now it has been decided to do the hat trick still a third time — during "The Paradine Case" show Sunday night. A special courier was dispatched Thursday to Connecticut to retrieve the beret — presumably for more laundering before air time.

"From now on," said Jinx, "I'll hang on to my hat."

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday — "Thresholds for Tomorrow," NBC, 7:30-8:30 — last of three-part science series.

Sunday — Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic, CBS, 5-6:30 p.m. — Bizet's "Carmen"; "The Paradine Case," NBC, 10-11 — with Boris Karloff, Richard Basehart and Viveca Lindfors.

'THE LAND'

NBC-TV SPECIAL,
March 13, 10:00 PM, EST

The small farmer is vanishing, driven off his land, not by hunger but by plenty. Only giant farms make money. Chet Huntley, a small farmer himself, explores the agricultural revolution that is turning farm communities into ghost towns.

$1 Bill Is Graced By Two Washingtons

PERTH AMBOY, N.J. (AP) — Veronica Polak has a one-dollar bill with pictures of George Washington on front and back.

It came as change from a grocer four years ago.

The U.S. Treasury has offered to exchange the double dollar for a sound single, Mrs. Polak said Thursday.

But she claimed a private collector had offered her $1,500.

Newspaper Editor Threatened By Right

GRAZ, Austria — (AP) — The newspaper Kleine Zeitung said Thursday it had received a telephone call threatening grave consequences unless it stopped a serialized report on the right-wing Secret Army Organization in Algeria.

An editor of the paper said the caller identified himself as acting on orders of the secret army.

Sought Muffler For Chimes On Town Hall Clock

RYDE, Isle of Wight (AP) — A man sought a court order Thursday to silence the nightly booming of the town hall clock — because it keeps his mother-in-law from visiting him and his wife.

The plaintiff, Albert Bell, sued the Town Council under the local noise abatement act. He wanted the clock chimes turned off nightly from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Bell said his mother-in-law spent the Easter weekend at his house, but was so disturbed by the hourly din from the clock she vowed never to return.

Other residents of the neighborhood, however, said they found the hourly chiming a comfort.

Judge L. P. L. Firman-Edwards dismissed Bell's complaint.

Milton Berle May Return To Airwaves

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television viewer may feel like Rip Van Winkle next season as he watches Lucille Ball, Jackie Gleason, Loretta Young, Sid Caesar and Roy Rogers return to the air with weekly shows.

Those returnees may be joined by Mister Television himself: Milton Berle.

"The network has been talking to me about it," said Berle of his parent (or is it partner?), NBC.

"I'll admit I'm interested. In fact, I have been thinking about an idea for the last two or three years. I would combine the elements of the old Tuesday night show with an entirely different factor. I can't say now what that factor is, or it'd be on the air tomorrow.

"The main thing I want is the proper time slot. I don't mean it has to be a surefire time; there's no such thing any more. But I don't want to be stuck with an impossible time, as I was with 10:30 Mondays on 'Jackpot Bowling.' It was a good show, but I myself recommended that the sponsor cancel. You can't build a rating at that hour."

Berle's announcement that he's thinking of returning to regular TV may or may not be occasioned by the fact that he is doing a special on NBC tonight.

Berle reminisced about those fine, frantic days when television was young and so were we.

"You wouldn't believe how we put the shows together in those days," he said.

"I paid Pearl Bailey $150, Senor Wences $100. Why, the whole show — talent, technicians and air time — came to $12,000.

"You know what this special tonight costs? Half a million. And that doesn't include air time."

Boy Performer Says Father Took Earnings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bo Wagner, 16, once a performer with Lawrence Welk band, accuses his father of taking all his earnings and threatening his life.

The youth charged his father, Robert W. Wagner Sr., was deeply in debt and pawned the boy's musical instruments. The son said that for the last four years he has been virtually the sole support of his father, mother, two brothers and a sister. The family lives in suburban Burbank.

Boeing Labor Dispute Ends

Labor leaders and the Building Trade Council ironed out the labor dispute between local 588, Laborer's Union and the Western Hotel Corporation Wednesday night, regarding employment of non-union members on the Boeing Company Mobile Home Park.

Wesley Ream Jr., secretary-treasurer of local 588 told The Democrat-Capital Thursday the dispute "had been worked out to the satisfaction of both parties involved."

Later Royal Cowger, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Union local 534, said the banner carries were no longer on the line and that terms had been reached. Ream nor Cowger would elaborate on settlement terms. However Cowger did say that everybody was apparently happy and that workers were back on the job.

Ray Olson, Western Hotel Corporation representative, was contacted at the company's trailer office at the park. Olson said he had no comments.

The dispute, reportedly brewing for some time, came to a head Tuesday when local 588 placed Ellis Greer, 1510 East Fifth, in front of the entrance streets to the mobile home park with an "information banner" stating that, in effect, Western Hotel Corporation workers were not members of the local. The sign urged the workers to join the local.

Ream told The Democrat-Capital that the local either wanted them to join or for the firm to hire local labor that had union membership. Indications were that only six men, working for Western Hotel, were involved.

The picket-type action halted work of two sub-contractors for one day. Workers for Lambirth Plumbing Company, Sedalia, and Kaw Valley Electric, Kansas City, (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 6)

Death Toll Stands at 35

Storm-Battered Coast Is Declared a Disaster Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tides dropped off Thursday but boiling seas continued to batter the East Coast in the aftermath of the worst winter storm ever to strike the seaboard. The federal government declared the scene of multimillion-dollar destruction a major disaster area.

The action by the Small Business Administration made the states of North Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York eligible for low-interest, long-term loans to rebuild storm-ravaged communities.

Estimates of damage ran far above the $100-million mark. Starvation and pestilence menaced survivors amid the ruins of their homes. The Agriculture Department in Washington rushed surplus food supplies.

Drinking water was precious in many areas. The death toll from nature's three-day rampage stood at 35. It was feared that receding flood waters might uncover more victims.

Many communities estimated that the fury of the wind and wave exceeded that of the full-fledged hurricanes of other years. Ships at sea continued to feel the after effects of the storm, which swept in Tuesday with snow and gales and left behind high winds, 40-foot waves and 10-foot tides.

The Liberian tanker Gem, broken in two by the storm, wallowed in two sections off the North Carolina coast. Twenty-seven men were believed aboard her stern and aid was dispatched. The passenger ship Victoria rescued eight others from the bow of the Gem.

A Chinese vessel, the Chun Lee, was drifting rudderless with water in an afterhold about 60 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N. C. still lost was the yawl, Guinevere, object of an air and sea search, since she radioed early Tuesday that she was sinking 108 miles east of Charleston, S. C., with three persons aboard.

Other ships reported themselves in trouble but able to proceed without assistance. They included the Chesapeake Lightship with a damaged forward bulkhead.

Tides fell during the day in many places to about three feet above normal. However, flood waters made fresh inroads, inundating parts of Philadelphia

Fla. Tourist Beaches Are Hit by Storm

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Unseasonably high tides, from an intense Atlantic Ocean storm, pounded a 130-mile stretch of Florida's tourist beaches Thursday, inflicting untold damage to hotels, resorts, homes and business districts.

Waves estimated at 25 feet high crashed over seawalls and breakwaters, knocking down cabanas and small buildings, damaging larger structures and carrying away the wreckage to the sea.

Heavy wave action was reported from Fort Pierce to Key Biscayne.

Deerfield, north of Pompano Beach, apparently was hardest hit, losing its beach and 21st Avenue.

The Palm Beach area received a severe lashing by the rough seas. Debris was swept inland on some streets not far from the oceanfront estate of Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy. The Kennedy home has a breakwater for protection.

The high tides slammed into the beaches during the height of Miami's best tourist season in five years. None of the hotels or motels was evacuated, but beaches and oceanfront swimming pools were closed as towering waves washed over them.

On Collins Avenue, Miami Beach's main thoroughfare, seawater surged through the street, halting traffic and damaging scores of ground floor and basement stores and other buildings. Hotels the length of the tourist coast reported damage ranging from light to moderate.

Davis Is Named Head Of River Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has nominated Brig. Gen. Ellsworth I. Davis, now the Army's chief engineer in Europe, to be president of the Mississippi River Commission.

The Mississippi River Commission is responsible for flood control, navigation, and water resources conservation and development on the Mississippi and its tributaries from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to the mouth of the river.

and Baltimore, and spreading three-foot-deep water in Annapolis, Md., site of the U.S. Naval Academy.

The fury of the storm was felt as far south as Florida, where the resort area's gold coast was beset by towering tides from Palm Beach to Miami Beach. Accompanying the destructive water was unusually cold weather—a low of 31 degrees in the Miami area.

Many plush Miami Beach hotels, such as the Fontainebleau, Americana and Eden Roc reported damage to cabanas, and Collins Avenue, running almost the length of the beach was closed in six places by flood waters.

Delay Take-off Of Big Bomber At Whiteman

The United States Air Force Strategic Air Command B-58 Hustler bomber that landed at Whiteman Air Force Base March 5, is still grounded due to weather conditions at Carswell AFB, Texas, according to Sgt. Clark Mahood, Information Service Officer.

Sgt. Mahood stated that as of late Thursday conditions were still unfavorable and the delay at Whiteman is indefinite.

Technicians from Carswell AFB, Texas, were flown to Whiteman to make minor mechanical repairs on the Hustler prior to its return flight to Texas.

The aircraft commander, Lt. Col. Bruce R. Groesbeck, of the 43rd Bomb Wing based at Carswell, attended Haskell University of Lawrence, Kan., prior to entering the Air Force.

Other members of the B-58 crew are: Major Edward C. Dewey, navigator, and Captain Joseph A. Bridwell, defensive systems operator, also of the 43rd Bomb Wing at Ft. Worth, Texas.

Before landing at Whiteman the supersonic bomber had flown the west to east portion of the record flight from Los Angeles to New York in two hours and two minutes. On the return leg of the trip the aircraft stopped at Whiteman Air Force Base while another B-58 and crew went on to set three new speed records. They were transcontinental from west to east, then from east to west and a roundtrip record of four hours and 42 minutes.

Expansion Plan Nod By Board of Works

Fishermen Not Biting

Fishing Permit Sales Lagging

An apparent lack of information available to news media concerning the operation of the Spring Fork Lake recreation area has been given as the reason only 49 fishing permits have been sold since the permits went on sale Monday.

Melvin Jones, Board of Public Works member who has been designated as coordinator in opening the area for public recreation, said Wednesday night that he has had several questions asked, concerning the operation of the area.

There seems to be some misunderstanding as to the days a holder of a permit may fish at the lake.

Jones pointed out that the State Board of Health recommends not more than 30 fishermen be allowed to fish each day. According to the plan now in effect, Jones said, the Water Department will notify 30 permit-holders per day that they may fish if they so desire. The notifications will be sent out during the week prior to the designated day for fishing.

But if the fishermen cannot fish on the designated day, Jones said, he may fish at any time during the week in which his designated day falls. For instance, Jones pointed out, if a man is notified he can fish on Monday, and cannot go fishing that day, he may go any other day during that week, to include the following Sunday. The fishing week will run from Monday to the following Sunday, inclusive, Jones said.

Jones, with the approval of other members of the Board, is making this concession for several reasons, he pointed out. Even if the number of permits issued reaches 1,000 or more, only 30 people will be notified per day. In a seven-day week this will add up to only 210 people, and the lake area can stand this load even if they all decide to go fishing on the same day.

Jones said that in his opinion all of the 210 people will not want to fish on the same day. Some will want to fish during the week, when the lake is not crowded. Some will want to fish Saturday and some Sunday, thus lessening the possible chance for a one-day load of 210 people.

It was pointed out that at the present time, with only 49 permits issued the permit holders can fish every week, or just about any time they please.

Holiday Inn Motel Work to Begin Here With Weather Break

Construction on the proposed Holiday Inn Motel is scheduled to begin as soon as the weather permits, according to information given at the meeting of the Board of Public Works Wednesday night.

The board gave the go-ahead for the construction of a six-inch main to the motel site, on South Limit near the city limits, which will be a sizable construction job within itself. The motel is to be served by a four-inch meter, indicating the motel will be a large establishment.

City Water Department Moves Ahead

Engineers' Report Is Heard Wednesday By Board of Works

The Board of Public Works at its regular meeting Wednesday night accepted the preliminary plans for the eventual improvement and expansion of the Water Department, submitted by the engineering firm Black & Veatch, with a few registered changes, and voted to proceed with the 1962-1963 portion of the plan.

The proposed schedule of planned improvements and costs is as follows:

1962-1963: Rehabilitation of existing filters, $9,000; replace six dry chemical filters, $14,300; relocate postchlorine feeder, $100; raise No. 11 wellhead and install new 10-inch line, $7,100; filter building flood protection and revisions, $4,200. Total, $34,700.

The engineer's report includes provisions for a new 30-inch main from Spring Fork Lake to Sedalia to be installed during the next eight years. The total capital expenditures for the eight-year period, not including the cost of the 30-inch main, add up to $59,650.

The board reviewed three bids on a new roof for the pump station, and decided to ask for new bids, using specifications similar to a method of roofing the building that had been submitted by Cramer & Schrader Construction Co. The board had previously asked for bids, and received three (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 3)

Police Come to Aid Of Sedalia Mother

Mrs. Ted Pohl, 911 Crescent Drive, had one of those nerve-shattering experiences most every parent faces while their children are growing up. Mrs. Pohl's two pre-school-age daughters locked themselves in the bathroom and turned on the hot water in the bathtub and lavatory. Mrs. Pohl was unable to make them understand how to unlock the door or to turn off the water.

In desperation she called the police and Officer Alva Lemens was dispatched to assist her. Lemens broke the lock on the door and rescued the two frightened little girls.

Hudson Hearing Set For Next Friday

The hearing date for the civil case of the City of Sedalia against Stanton Hudson, publisher of The Sedalia Times, has been set for March 16, at 1:30 p.m., in Magistrate Court.

Attorney John C. McCloskey is handling the case for the City, while Hudson is acting in his own defense.

The City is seeking to recover rent money allegedly owed by Hudson and to obtain possession of the building in which the Times offices are located, in the 100 block on West Second.

The City has purchased the building, to be torn down to make way for an off-street parking lot.

No Appreciable Changes

Complete Counting Of Absentee Ballots

Absentee ballots in Missouri's special election on Amendment No. 1, and those on the Sedalia city primary election, have been counted, and they made no appreciable change in either the Amendment vote or the primary race.

The count on Amendment No. 1 was 35 for and two against, bringing the official vote total of Pettis County to 4,804 for and 1,846 against.

The count was made by Mrs. Clyde Waters, Republican, and Mrs. Walter Jennings, Democrat, in the office of County Clerk James Green. The two judges also certified the official count.

At the City Hall in the office of City Clerk Ralph Dedrick, the primary vote were counted by Mrs. Anna Berger and Miss Hazel Palmer, Republicans, and Mrs. R. A. Malone and Lynn Shelby, Democrats.

Possibility change in two races for the nomination for Councilmen on the Democratic ticket faded when the absentees were fairly well divided among the four wards, and the trailing candidates were unable to compete with the leader in the count.

Walter Jesse, in the Second Ward, who went into the absentee count with a 65 vote edge saw it increased as he got 32 and his opponent Charles Bell only picked up 18 votes. In the fourth ward, Roberts who had a slim edge of 20 saw his majority increase as he received 19 votes and William Franken received 11.

Most of the absentees were Democratic votes, four of the votes being Republican and the balance of the 1960 which were counted went to the Democrats.

The absentee vote and final count for the Democrats were: For Mayor, J. H. Bagby 134, total 2500, majority of 656; E. Glenn Lewis 51, total 1844. For Chief of Police, Leonard Ditzfield 83, total 1507, majority, 714; Ray Simons 37, total 766; Joe Gresham 6, total 198; Herbert Petree, 17; total 366; Robert Quann 11, total 674; Melvin Sands 27, total 637. For Police Judge, U. L. Howerton, 58, total 1975, majority 939; J. B. Woodward Jr., 78, total 1,036; Robert Hopkins 23, total 782; Jim Robinson, 6, total 364. For City Attorney, John C. McCloskey, 136, total 3,395. For City Assessor, John M. Blue, 141, total, 3,164. For City Treasurer Mrs. Rosie Pearl Robb 140, total 3,124.

Councilman First Ward, E. B. Smith 35, total 711; Second Ward, Jesse 32, total 545, majority 79; Third Ward, James A. "Pat" Clark 26, total 650, majority 179; Fourth Ward, Raymond Roberts (Please turn to page 4, column 5)

Casualties on Both Sides Mount

Government Troops Fight With Red Guerrillas in Running Gun Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Running battles between government forces and Communist guerrillas flared over much of the southern third of South Viet Nam Thursday.

Casualties mounted on both sides as Viet Cong guerrillas began striking hard, sometimes in units of 1,000 men, and the government struck back even harder in what was shaping up as the biggest military struggle since South Viet Nam became independent in 1954.

Informed sources estimated 1,000, 1,500 Vietnamese operating on a finger of land in the Mekong River delta.

Troops drew a security zone around the craft and the military command in Saigon hoped to get a spare engine to hte helicopter by Friday.

The 1,500 troops, sent into the delta by landing craft and on foot to hunt down a band of guerrillas which wiped out a company of government soldiers in an ambush Tuesday, lost contact with the elusive Red fighters.

men have been killed, wounded or captured on the two sides in the last 12 days.

No American casualties were reported in that period, though U.S. Army helicopters were active all over the jungle map ferrying government troops and supplies.

One helicopter was forced down by engine trouble Thursday in a guerrilla-infested region while flying supplies to a force of about

The guerrillas, moving among the many islands and fingers of land, apparently had slipped into a mangrove swamp along the South China Sea. Observation planes watched for signs of enemy movement in the swamp and along river branches.

Observation planes were keeping close watch over Phuoc Thanh Province, 50 miles northeast of Saigon, where an air strike was reported to have killed 60 Communists Sunday.

Pussy Can't Find a Corner

Some persons don't pay any attention to a doctor's advice. Then there are others who disregard a lawyer's counsel. But when a fellow gets involved with physical or legal trots he panically runs the alphabetical list for the first adviser he can get hold of.

In some respects this is the situation in which the mayor and city councilmen find themselves regarding the impending municipal primary election, and the maze of interpretations incident thereto.

Some say council set the wrong date for the primary, others uphold it. There is a contention, too that a municipal primary here is illegal anyhow.

As if these were not enough, then came the filings and withdrawals of candidates for the city collector's office, the subsequent rash of write-in candidates adding mustard to the hemorrhoidal irritation. Council tried to alleviate the latter plight by passing an ordinance to open up the filing for collector candidates. The mayor vetoed it. Now the curbstone experts say the mayor doesn't have the legal right of a veto.

Thus the medley of miscalculations is so discordant it is reminiscent of Jack Benny's fiddle-playing or as frustrating as a child's game of pussy wants a corner, when poor pussy can't find a vacant corner.

For all this befuddlement the mayor points to the council, the council points to the mayor and the councilor, and the latter throws up his arms in despair because the mayor won't follow his advice anyway.

Significantly, considerable blame is placed on the apparent inadequacy of the election laws of Missouri covering the situation with which our municipal solons are confronted in the present instance.

One thing is clear. Sedalia needs some leadership in a hurry down there at city hall from whatever direction it may come. And it should come quickly. Time's a wastin'. Voters are entitled to some assurance the impending primary election will not be legally flattened into a technical knockout.

Facetiously speaking, right now the primary patient seems punch drunk. He needs more than piddling attention.

Repugnant as caucuses may be to some persons, the mayor and city council should do some serious group reflection on the technicalities involved in this primary election. They should decide upon some legal antidotes through professional channels to counteract the mischievous effects of the poison that is currently emaciating proper civil procedures.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Space Ride Triumph Over Red Tape

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Astronaut John Glenn's dramatic flight into orbit was as much a triumph over the forces of government as the forces of nature.

For the man-in-space project has been hamstrung by bumbling, bickering, and budget-slashing ever since Dr. Werner Von Braun's rocket scientists were shunted off to Fort Bliss, Tex., to wait in the heat and dust for a chance to help America get started in the space race.

The history of what happened is a good lesson in what not to do in the future.

Eventually, the Army collected all the V-2 parts it could find in Germany and dumped a conglomeration of screws, springs, valves and other rocket components in the New Mexico desert. The German scientists were turned loose on this gigantic jigsaw puzzle to form what rockets they could.

From this beginning came the sturdy Redstone rocket which was used last year to launch the first American astronaut, Alan Shepard, into space for a dazzling 15 minutes.

Yet as late as July 29, 1957, the Pentagon policy makers were still so opposed to shooting a man into space and exploring the moon that the Air Force, believe it or not, felt obliged to flash teletype orders to all commands, warning:

"Recent news stories which described certain Air Force research and development projects as space flight projects have resulted in unfavorable reaction at Air Force and Department of Defense. It is suggested that any speeches or public releases planned by you or your staff avoid mention or discussion of space, space technology and space vehicles. No statements can be made which might in any way cause the national news media to describe valid Air Force projects as efforts to 'fly to the moon.'"

It took the first Soviet Sputnik, which beeped mockingly from orbit only 67 days later, to change the official attitude. At first, President Eisenhower and his subordinates tried to pool-pool the Russian achievement and lull the public back to sleep.

But the next month, the Russians slammed a dog into orbit, and Americans began to demand action. Ike finally gave Werner Von Braun permission to launch the first Explorer satellite, which had been gathering cobwebs in a Huntsville, Ala., Army warehouse for months.

U.S. Could Have Been First

Von Braun had actually been stopped from launching this satellite, stamped with the number 29, on Sept. 20, 1956—a full year ahead of the first Soviet Sputnik.

Yet 16 months later, this same number 29 was trundled back to Cape Canaveral to launch the first Explorer. There is no reason to doubt that it could have done on Sept. 20, 1956, what it was finally permitted to do on Jan. 31, 1958.

Following up this first belated satellite launching, President Eisenhower overruled his budget boys and ordered the man-in-space project that led to Glenn's historic feat. But he never gave Project Mercury the necessary priority to overtake the Soviet lead in manned space exploration.

It was President Kennedy who finally cut the red tape, much as the umbilical cords holding Glenn's rocket to its space dock were finally dropped.

Under Kennedy's prodding, Congress voted more money for the race to the moon, and the man-in-space project was dramatically speeded up.

The President personally stopped Glenn from going into orbit, however, the week before Christmas. The Project Mercury people were pushing so hard that they were on the verge of cracking from the strain. They were eager to get a man into orbit before the year's end, so history would record that the United States and Soviet Union accomplished the feat in the same year.

But Kennedy feared the tension was so high that it might lead to a Christmas tragedy. To relieve the strain, he ordered the launching put off until January. Technical difficulties and bad weather postponed it until February 20.

Russia Still Ahead

Glenn's spectacular success unfortunately doesn't quite match the Soviet achievement. His smaller capsule could have sustained life for no more than seven orbits. The Russian cosmonaut, Gherman Titov, has already whirled round the world 17 times. The United States won't be ready to shoot at this record until the end of the year when an American astronaut will go up for 18 orbits.

The Russians could also send up two, even three, cosmonauts with their present equipment. The United States is working frantically to build a Gemini capsule, large enough to hold two astronauts, for launching next year. It will be boosted into orbit by a modified Titan missile, more powerful than the Atlas which carried Glenn into space.

Our scientists also acknowledge that Russia has the rocket power to send a man on a breathtaking trip around the moon and back. The United States is rushing to build the Saturn rocket and Apollo spacecraft for the same purpose. But the Russians are likely to pull off this space spectacular at least two years ahead of us.

American rocket builders are now trying to step up America's propulsive power, which is the key to space research.

The 4,200-pound Mercury capsule, which the Atlas heaved into orbit, is only the beginning. The most powerful American rocket combination is the Atlas-Agena, a two-stage rocket capable of hurling 2,000 pounds into a much higher 2,000-mile orbit.

Next will come the Atlas-Centaur which should be able to launch 9,000 pounds into orbit. Then late next year, the super-powerful Saturn should become operational.

The race to the stars has just begun, and the United States may still lead the way.

Globe Trotters

The Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy and his fun loving wife Ethel, are making friends even among the communistic students in Japan and other places in the Far East. They have even rearranged their schedule to include Russia as a bonus token of the Powers-Abel exchange. Both of them are clever enough to pick up a few words in the countries they visit to put the natives at ease.

Brother Edward, known as Teddy, takes off soon for Poland, where he will use his personal charm and eloquence to demonstrate how the United States has improved under his brother's administration.

Lady Jacqueline will be the next good will ambassador, accompanied by her sister Princess Radziwell, the only titled member of first family clan. They will visit India and Pakistan.

The Kennedys are good looking, bi-or even tri-lingual and they have a happy way of meeting people. Everywhere they go they will be received as representatives of the President of the United States and they cannot help but make friends.

During the absence, the President will have Caroline and baby John and his rocking chair.

Yesterday's Boyhood

When men turn back the pages

To the boyhood they have known
It seems that it is ages

Since the time they first were grown,
But memory starts time rolling

And vividly they see

A boy and dog a-strolling

Just like they used to be;

Sometimes a-huntin' he would go

Where rabbit tracks were thick

There in the newly fallen snow—

His weapon just a stick,

The playing on old Bunker Hill

That progress did destroy—

The game of "King" was a thrill

To the carefree, barefoot boy—

And the junk yard where he often went,

(Because he owned no toys)

With the mystery atmosphere it lent

Just fascinated boys.

So many things of interest there

With which he found to play

And build his castles in the air—

He'd spend a half a day,

Here, too, he found some books to read

And he'd go browsing through,

He was elated then, indeed,

To read the "Tom Swift" series through,

The conversation of the men

While he was playing near,

Gave him the facts of life at ten,

Of things he shouldn't hear,

Then when he reached eleven

First birthday gift he ever had,

That day was close to heaven,

Eleven cents—how rich that lad—

And to the man who gave the gift

When he had little and was small,

And others who gave him a lift

He murmurs now: "God bless them all,"

The teacher, too, who understood

And gently gave a helping hand,

Ane, who was wise as well as good

Because she tried to understand—

Ah, yes, the years have tumbled back

To life and friends that once he knew,

To all the things he seemed to lack,

And all the things he used to do,

And once again does he relive

In smiles, and yes, almost in tears,

In memories that he wouldn't give

All he possesses for those years,

"Can you imagine kids today

Living like that?" he asks, but then

Still kids are living just that way

And growing up to noble men.

The Doctor Says

Don't Over Treat Bellyache If Simple Steps Don't Help

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a preceding column I suggested self-treatments that could safely be done for relief of a mild, uncomplicated bellyache. Especially one that had been successfully treated on a previous occasion.

Here now are things you had best avoid for safety's sake:

Don't burn or freeze the skin of your abdomen. If surgery is later necessitated, the burn or frostbite may interfere with healing.

Don't take an emetic (mustard; ipecac). The effect may be too irritating or weakening.

Don't take a pain-killer (analgesic) other than aspirin or some related product. A more powerful analgesic, such as codeine or opium, may mask pain with a resultant delay in seeking and obtaining required surgical treatment.

Don't take more than a teaspoonful of any alcoholic beverage (gin especially). Larger doses, too, may have a masking effect.

Don't continue taking medications that may produce abdominal pain as a side reaction. Ask your doctor if you are in doubt. And immediately discontinue doses of cortical steroids (ACTH) that act like the narcotics in suppressing pain and that also favor perforation of any inflammatory process that may be going on under cover of your belly wall.

And, finally for present purposes, don't delay to call your doctor or go to his office if your pain persists despite self-treatments, if you have fever, if you feel seasick or begin to vomit, or if you are unable to obtain a bowel evacuation.

Before you see your doctor, help him help you by providing him with urine and stool specimens and with exact readings of rectal temperatures.

Be sure, too, that you can furnish the following details: What was eaten at meal preceding attack, time and character of last bowel evacuation, date of last and next expected menstrual period, the kind of medications taken before the attack and during the

What's Beyond The Curtain?

By Ralph W. Loew, D. D.

A few years after World War II, a group of young people (they were young then) assembled from various parts of the world for a conversation in Norway. One of the events brought them into the cathedral which was being repaired after the ruinous warfare. The walls were blackened. A billowing kind of canvas hung low over the heads of the audience. In the pulpit, the heroic Elvind Berggrav, bishop of Norway, stood and spoke to us.

He pointed to the canvas, saying, "You may not think that there is anything beyond the ceiling which you see. Yet I tell you that there are workmen on the other side, craftsmen who are making this building beautiful. I tell you this because I have seen it. This is the function of your faith. In a world where all too often the ceiling is very low, there must be the eye of faith to help you see the reality of that which is beyond."

In a time which suffers from the fallout of cynicism, there is a new need for reverence, for the reality of something beyond all reality. The canvas is too close and, since we cannot see beyond, we deny that there is anything beyond.

Just as man searches the infinite corners of space, so he needs to search the vast reaches of truth.

What difference would it make if he settled for the canvas ceiling? It would be living in terms of the present, losing the great incentives which enable a man to weigh, to choose, to balance, to desire, to discriminate, to select, to understand—and to do this from the perspective of the eternal.

In a real sense, this is what so many people of our time miss. They say, "What difference does it make? No one cares what we do and we don't know who we are."

That puts the ceiling dangerously low.

It was a Psalmist who tore the canvas away and talked of man as just a little lower than the angels. Jesus called on men to love not only themselves and their families but their enemies as well.

To put sense and meaning into such words is to see beyond the canvas.

We live in a time when we have talked of living in caves and huddling in shelters. There are millions of people in the world who have lived in such hovels. It is in such a time that we need to see beyond our "notative too-nearishness."

It is still honest to believe that something beautiful is being worked out beyond the ceiling which we see. "Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief."

attack and just what unsuccessful efforts you made in your efforts to obtain relief.

In other words, try to behave like a witness on a stand. Give the facts as you know them. But let the judge and jury determine the question of guilt.

On Flaming Issues

Space Study Cooperation Darkened by Past Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's new bid for Soviet cooperation in outer space is judged here to have some chance of separating the space race from the arms race and leading to a peace pact for the skies.

But the chance is not very great. Nor is the time to get results very long.

The discouraging factor, as Kennedy himself indicated at his news conference Wednesday, is the failure of efforts during the past year to reach accords on any of the pressing, earth-bound issues which have for so long inflamed East-West relations.

The space problem could prove different in one respect, at least. It arises from an area of competition between the Soviet Union and the Western powers and its military potential is large. But although military boosters and military men have figured in space achievements to date, space is not yet committed by either side to war-like purposes so far as anyone here can say.

As Kennedy told reporters Wednesday, he considers it particularly important now to do something about securing the peaceful uses of outer space "before space becomes devoted to uses of war."

He followed up his news conference discussion of the problem with release Wednesday night of a message he had sent to Soviet Premier Khrushchev calling for a meeting at a very early date to discuss ideas for the cooperative development of space research and space projects.

Khrushchev earlier in the day had sent Kennedy a message of congratulations on the triple earth orbit by Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and suggesting the two nations cooperate in exploring outer space.

Kennedy told the Soviet leader he was instructing his officials "to prepare new and concrete proposals for immediate projects of common action."

Administration informants said that these would probably take the form of specific programs to reach objectives already set forth by Kennedy in earlier statements—such as the use of satellites for communications purposes and for weather research and forecasting.

But Kennedy's call for a meeting also opened up the possibility that if East-West cooperation could be seriously started on relatively modest projects it might lead to a joint effort in some more dramatic scheme such as probing the mysteries of the distant planets or putting a man on the moon.

By contrast with East-West efforts to negotiate a disarmament agreement, work out a nuclear weapons test ban or settle the Berlin crisis, the space projects which Kennedy envisions would offer the possibility of limited, practical, cooperation without immediately involving military considerations of either side.

The Kennedy administration's approach to the outer space peace problem is two-pronged. And while one of the prongs of policy aims at positive cooperation with the Soviets in peace exploration the other aims at an agreement to deny the uses of outer space for military purposes. This second line of attack on the problem is due to be made in the Geneva Disarmament Conference which opens March 14.

Kennedy was asked Wednesday whether he had any evidence that the Soviets were actually willing to engage in joint space explorations.

He said: "We have seen no evidence that this kind of cooperation would take place." But he added, referring to Glenn's successful orbiting, "We, I might say now, have more chips on the table than we did some time ago. So perhaps the prospects are improving."

He seemed to be suggesting that Khrushchev may now be more impressed with U. S. space explorations and may feel that the gap between the two great powers in this area has closed to the point where it would be profitable for the Soviet Union to consider modifying its own secrecy policy in order to permit cooperation.

Weak Gold, Silver Prices Worry, Comfort to Kennedy

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Gold and silver price weakness is both a comfort and a possible worry to the Kennedy administration.

The price of gold on the London free market is the lowest in seven months—so low there is no profit now in buying it from the U.S. Treasury. In the last four years the Treasury has been losing part of its big gold hoard and would like to see this stopped.

But the price of silver, settling down in its turn after a speculative rise, is now only a shade over $1 an ounce on the New York market. And this weakness—the price has fallen six times this year—could stiffen opposition of congressmen from the mining areas to the administration's silver bill introduced this week.

Among other things the President wants the repeal of the law requiring the government to buy any domestically mined silver at 90½ cents an ounce. The congressmen might figure that the day might come again when that floor to silver prices would be useful to their constituents.

Mining interests also would like to see a rise in the legal price of gold—set at $35 an ounce—which they hold is too low to be profitable for many mines.

Gold production in the United States dropped to 1.5 million ounces last year, the lowest since 1946. It continued to rise in South Africa, which mined 22.9 million ounces.

Gold stocks in the United States dropped by 25 million ounces last year, and by 48 million ounces in 1960.

Most of the Treasury's loss in gold means that the metal changes ownership but doesn't leave these shores. Buyer nations store most of it with the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

But last year $775 million worth actually was shipped abroad, most of it to London. This compares with $1.6 billion shipped in 1960, and was only the third time since World War II that shipments have topped $500 million. The previous years were 1950 and 1951 when gold speculation was linked with the Korean War.

The price of gold has been dropping steadily in recent weeks in London and now stands slightly under $35.09 an ounce. Since the U.S. Treasury adds handling charges that bring its selling price up almost to that figure, and since shipping costs add still more, there's no profit in shipping gold to the London market today.

Gold price weakness there has been linked to selling by holders who had bought it for speculative reasons. In the October 1960 gold rush the price went up briefly to $40.60 an ounce. This was linked to speculative belief in some quarters that the United States might devalue the dollar by raising the price it pays for gold.

Price weakness in silver also is thought to be due to selling recently by speculators who had seen it go as high as $1.04 an ounce after President Kennedy late in November halted sales of silver by the U.S. Treasury at around 91 cents an ounce.

The President is asking Congress also to allow the Federal Reserve to issue $1 bills in place of Treasury silver certificates, against which legal silver reserve must now be maintained. He would use the free metal for coinage.

But this would mean the Treasury would need to buy less newly mined silver, taking it out of the market for the metal and lessening demand.

This is likely to be viewed with considerably less than enthusiasm by the congressmen from the mining states.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

James LeRoy Dent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dent, 703 South Montgomery avenue, celebrated his birthday with a party given in his honor by his mother. Those attending were: Mrs. Richard Gray and son, Donald Richard; Mrs. William Carl and son, Donald William; Mrs. Ted Ackerman and daughter, Carol Ann; Mrs. Ernest Hodges and daughter, Shirley Ann; Mrs. Loten Broadus and son, Warren Ehrman; Mrs. Wood Shores and nephew, Richard Anthony McKelvey; Mrs. J. P. Dent, grandmother, and Mrs. J. R. Murrell, aunt of James Leroy.

FORTY YEARS AGO

All Western Union clocks in the city, twenty in number, were stopped or running irregularly due to the fact that the clock electric wire was crossed with another electric wire. Leo Lennartz, manager, stated that they would be running again in a few hours.

The mule sale conducted by C. J. Hieronymus, auctioneer, at Sweet Springs resulted in better prices than have been known since the war. Hieronymus expressed an opinion the depression in business is over and in the future would be on the incline. Eighteen mules sold by John F. Evans, Sweet Springs, brought an average price of $135 each. The highest mule sold for $213 and the highest span brought $340. Lee Riley of Sedalia bought two mules, and Ben Harned three.

DALLAS NEWS: Counseling's Role — Professional high school counselors represent the good in modern education. More boys and girls than ever before are being stimulated to go to college and need advice and direction. One problem: In the face of rising demand for skilled manpower, one third of high school students are failing to be graduated.

Naturally, the federal government through its meddling experts in education has a remedy. Next year it will "invest" $4,400,000 in training institutes to produce more counselors. The U.S. Office of Education says there are only 18,700 counselors where 38,000 are needed in the interest of national defense.

Local and state governments should take the cue, by acting to lessen needs and pretexts for new federal spending.

Dream of Big Game Hunt Comes True

For W. C. Jones — LaMonte Resident

By RALPH JONES

NEED A GERENUCK'S head? an eland's antlers? or an elephant's foot? Or maybe the head of a water buffalo would look nice mounted in the living room. Few of us actually need such things, and few wives would appreciate having them in the living room, but most of us like to look at them and imagine we are "white hunters" in deepest Africa.

For the curious, the imaginative and the appreciative, W. C. Jones, operator of the LaMonte elevator, has arranged one of the most beautiful displays of big game trophies found in the mid-Missouri area. And he killed all of the animals himself.

Jones always liked to hunt, and always evidenced an intense interest in natural history. He dreamed of hunting in Africa, but for many years did not believe he would actually have the chance to make his dream come true.

He became a member of the Elks Club in Sedalia, and met many fine friends. In 1948, at the club, he met A. B. Fletcher, then a resident of Sedalia, who shared a common interest with Jones—hunting. The pair became fast friends and often spent the day quail hunting in the Sedalia area. They often talked about hunting in Africa.

Fletcher later moved from Sedalia to Des Moines, Iowa, then obtained a farm in Tanganyika, in southeast Africa, just 15 miles from Mt. Kilimanjaro. In addition to being good farm land that will produce two wheat crops per year, the farm is situated amid some of the finest big-game hunting territory in the world.

After Fletcher moved from Sedalia he and Jones maintained contact with each other, and Fletcher invited Jones to accompany him and Mrs. Fletcher to the farm in Africa. It was decided that Fletcher and his wife, also a hunter, would invite Jones along on a trip in 1960.

Jones started out on his trip by plane with the Fletchers Feb. 5, 1960. He spent two days in Paris, then two days in Rome before leaving continental Europe on his way to Nairobi, capital of Kenya. He stayed in Nairobi for two days, then went to the Fletcher farm.

On the slope of fabled Mt. Kilimanjaro, the Fletchers had over a period of time collected and assembled all of the gear a group would need on a safari. Guns, camping equipment, a jeep to get around in and a truck to haul equipment were available.

In about one week Jones had assembled all of the equipment he would need on the hunting trip, and had arranged for seven "boys" and a guide to accompany him. An additional man, who came in handy as an assistant guide, decided to go along for the trip.

The group camped in four different places, with the entire trip covering some 300 miles in a southwesterly direction from Mt. Kilimanjaro and the Fletcher farm. This took the group deeper into central Africa.

In the first camp the hunters began making preparations for the three weeks and two-day outing. Shortly after making camp Jones and the guide bagged four zebras, a wild hog — somewhat different from the much-sought-after European wild boar — and an impala, all to be used for lion and leopard bait.

Parts of the impala were used for food, as were dozens of guinea fowl abounding in the area.

At this first camp Jones bagged his lion. The guide reported lion signs had been seen around some of the bait, and Jones took up the chase. The hunter used the jeep to ride to the area of the bait, then walked about one-fourth mile. He spotted the male lion and bagged him with two shots—his first big-game kill.

Several attempts to bag a leopard were unsuccessful at this first camp and at the succeeding three camps.

The second camp was located about 65 miles southwest from the first stop. At the second camp Jones had the experience of being charged by a rhinoceros. He had to kill the animal in self-defense. African law protects these animals, except in cases where it is necessary to kill the animal to protect a human life.

The campers ate part of the meat from two water buffaloes killed at the second camp, and gave the remainder to the natives in the area.

Jones explained that it is a common practice to notify the natives when a kill is made, to prevent wasting any edible food, in

A LOT OF IVORY—This tusk, weighing some 65 pounds, was taken from the elephant Jones killed on his trip to Africa. The graceful animal's head once belonged to an eland, which along with the leskudo and gerenuk, are classified with the gazelle family, and similar to the American antelope.

THE KILL—These are most of the trophies taken by Jones in Africa. They are on display in the offices of the LaMonte Elevator Co. Jones said that some 500 people have seen the display since the mounted trophies arrived from the taxidermist's a few weeks ago. Shown are the lion skin, front, a mounted

Peck Defends Charm

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

NEW YORK —Gregory Peck rises to the defense of personality stars, himself included.

"Being called one doesn't bother me," he exclaims, "but it is an over-simplification."

Actually, Peck insists, players whose mighty box office lure is sometimes attributed to mere charm may work harder than rivals praised for greater-acting talent.

"I don't make a big case for film art. Usually—or often—on the stage you deal with great material. With Shaw and many of the other writers, the speeches take off and there are a lot of first-rate ideas working for the performer."

"But scripts in movies are turned out on order. The writers are just literary bellboys. That's not particularly kind and things aren't quite as bad today as formerly. But it happens."

"What the screen actor has to do is direct all his energy at making frequently shoddy material look better. One way is investing it with personality—what-ever that is."

Reveres Tracy

"Spencer Tracy, for example, always comes off well in the notices, even though the dialogue is banal. Most of us look on Tracy as the Pope of the film art trade and what he does the lesser of us try to do."

Having made 35 features in his film career, Peck recalls only a few had superior scripts. Not that he has any writing aspirations himself.

In "Cape Fear," one of two Peck films soon to be released, the star supplied four lines of dialogue at one point. Everybody was dissatisfied when the scene was shot.

"Looking at the rushes one

MANICURE?—It would take a lot of work and polish to give this fellow a manicure. Inside the feet he stores the tanned skins of smaller animals he killed on his African safari.

day," Peck confesses, "I discovered that the reason it didn't work was because of the dialogue I had suggested."

Peck's other pending release is "How the West Was Won," in which he portrays another of the swashbuckling frontier roles that have dominated his record.

"The career wasn't deliberately steered in that direction or away from it," Peck notes. "What comes next depends on what is the best thing offered."

His next assignment, as a matter of fact, is "To Kill a Mockingbird," based upon Harper Lee's best-selling novel of a southern family.

Surprised at Smash

Peck's current incarnation before the public is "The Guns of Navarone," a picture which turned out to be "an absolute smash" to my surprise. At last report, the movie had grossed 25 million, he reports.

"I made a belated discovery of what I think was the secret ingredient of its success," he says. "It was the inclusion of two girls in the story without any sloppy romance. That gave the whole thing texture." Peck continued:

"It's been a long time since anyone asked me to do a theater role. If I found something I wanted to do I would want a few thousand hours of private rehearsal first."

"The only way to rehearse anything, play or film, is thoroughly and in continuity."

"You can't just walk through parts and survive."

GREGORY PECK

THE LION'S HEAD—Jones poses with the head of the lion he shot on his trip to Africa. The head is a perfect likeness to the live animal, and has been mounted to blend in with the entire skin of the lion. It might make a good rug, providing the visitors were not apt to become frightened. Jones explained that this is a full-grown male lion, and that the short hair is due to the animal crashing through the brush and keeping all loose hair brushed off. Lions seen in zoos have a much longer mane. In the upper center of the picture is a leskudo head, also taken on the trip. (Democrat - Capital Photos and Engravings.)

a primitive area. The natives in this area, Jones said, must use snares, deadfalls and other make-shift methods to capture wild game, because family guns are not common.

The trip to the third camp was a long one—about 150 miles—to an area where it was believed Jones might bag an elephant or the much-sought-after leopard. After two days and no sign of either an elephant or a leopard, the camp was moved to more promising elephant country about 100 additional miles to the southwest.

In return for the gift of meat from animals, usually killed for the trophies by hunters, the natives help out in any way possible. At this fourth and last camp, Jones was able to bag his elephant. He started tracking the elephant at daylight and walked until noon, then located his quarry. When the kill was made, the guide estimated the animal was 65 years old, and weighed six tons. The tusks weighed 65 pounds each.

When the campers came back to the site of the kill to take the feet and ivory, they found 35 to 40 natives, some who had walked more than 25 miles, waiting. The animal had not been touched.

After removing the trophies, the carcass was given to the waiting natives, who first ate their fill, then packed the remainder of the meat back to their homes.

SOMEONE WE KNOW?—No, it's the mounted head of a huge water buffalo killed by Jones on his African trip. This animal is domesticated in many areas of the world, particularly in the Far East, but in Africa it is considered legitimate game.

After the elephant kill, Jones sought out and killed several smaller animals he did not have, including an eland, a leskudo, a gerenuk and several other trophy-bearing smaller animals.

The Man In the Space Suit

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

GRiffin, Ga. — You can call someone an "All-American Boy" and have it mean something else. But when we called John Glenn an All-American Boy we meant it as a compliment.

I will say without apology that he is the kind of person you would like your parents to meet and know you were associated with. He was the kind of fellow you like to think of as your next door neighbor — the kind of guy you would like to have dating your kid sister.

Our paths first crossed at El Centro Marine Training Center in California. That was 1943 when our squadron was formed.

It seemed that in no time at all after that we were flying together in the Pacific Theater on bombing and strafing missions against the Japanese.

John was always stable—never reckless. He constantly tried to set endurance records—that is, staying in the air as long as possible—or altitude records. But you could hardly call him a "hot" pilot. He never tried to set records against the enemy or took unnecessary chances.

I suppose you would call Glenn a team man. He used to say to the other pilots:

"It's better that we all stick together and get there, even if we have to take the long way, than to scatter in every direction with some getting here and some not."

Later in Korea I would say that Glenn was more willing to take chances. He shot down three enemy jets and was disappointed that he didn't get numbers four and five before the truce was signed. Five would have made him an ace.

Once in Korea he returned to the field with his plane full of holes from his own bomb blast. That showed how low he was flying. Another time, a 40 mm. shot exploded just under his plane, riddling it with holes.

Religion played an important part in John's life. He was a Presbyterian, and he always tried to live his religion every day and not just use his faith as an "ace-in-the-hole" to pull him out of tight spots.

He was a very sensitive and human guy, too. He was a lieutenant and leader of a section that consisted of four planes, including his own. His wingman was killed in action. Glenn broke down and cried openly without shame.

But it was his sense of humor that probably we all remember most.

He always had a grin on his face, and he was an easy conversationalist. He never tried to make anyone feel uncomfortable or embarrassed. His humor used to break the tension.

When we were going overseas on an aircraft carrier, we were sunbathing on the deck. Glenn remarked that the voyage reminded him of the fellow who fell off the Empire State Building; and as he was passing each window called out "Everything is all right so far!"

That's what I mean by breaking the tension.

When the Korean War was over I kidded Glenn a little about his decision to stay in the Corps. I was going on inactive duty, and I said, "You want to stay in because it's secure."

Well, Glenn thought a second and said that he thought he could make a contribution to aviation. He was certainly right about that.
